President Confers With Key Leaders

Washington (AP) — President Eisenhower yesterday called in for a Monday breakfast the men most concerned with trying to raise the federal debt limit, only hours before Congress was expected to adjourn.

The brief White House announcement of the breakfast did not say even that that subject would be discussed, and gave no hint of what action, if any, might be planned.

The Senate Finance Committee handed the Eisenhower administration a major defeat Saturday night in voting 11-4 to take no action on the President's request that the debt limit be raised from 275 to 290 billion dollars.

With only four major items of legislation still to be handled, congressional leaders expressed confidence the session can be ended tonight unless unexpected difficulties arise.

The White House said only the President would breakfast 7 a.m. EST with Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.,) acting majority leader; Sen. Millikin (R-Colo), chairman of the finance committee; Budget Director Joseph M. Dodge; Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey; and Maj. Gen. Wilton Persons, the President's principal liaison man with Congress.

Observers expressed doubt that the White House breakfast would spark any new drive for immediate action on the request. Although the House approved the measure by a 239-158 vote, the Senate committee's strong stand against it gave little hope for favorable Senate action even if the measure were revived. Millikin was reported to have voted against shelving the administration's request.

The committee acted after Humphrey and Dodge had spent five hours arguing the need for raising the limit now. Millikin said afterward they made a good case, but the majority of the committee remained unconvinced.

Eisenhower asked the increase only last Thursday, and effectively blasted Congress' hopes to get away from Washington before the week end. With the debt limit proposal out of the way, however, hopes were renewed for quick adjournment.

Still to be disposed of are these major items:

1. The $6,652,422,390 foreign aid bill agreed to by a Senate-House conference committee and already approved in that form by the House.

2. Extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act, long delayed by House insistence that the Tariff Commission be increased from six to seven members. A conference committee eliminated that provision Saturday, however, and the House agreed. The measure now is substantially the same as that originally approved by the Senate, but that body must act on the conference report.

3. A $615,989,964 supplemental appropriation bill including 200 million dollars for Korean relief, $70,100,000 for aid to school construction in defense-affected areas, $75,000,000 for the new United States Information Agency and $46,500,000 for civil defense. Both the House and Senate must act.

4. The $1,10,000,000 regular appropriation bill for the State, Commerce and Justice Departments, which still is before a conference committee. The Senate added $12,500,000 to the House-approved bill to help cities and counties build airports. House conferees have refused to accept the addition, and the Senate will be asked today to vote to withdraw it.

Both Houses will meet early today, the Senate two hours and the House one hour ahead of normal schedule, but will recess to attend state funeral services at 11 a.m.

Two Hurt In Crash

Two persons were injured when the car of Catherine G. Whelan, 18, Scranton, ran into a parked auto in the Stroudsburg High School drive at 7:20 p. m. yesterday.

Stroudsburg police said Miss Whelan suffered a cut on the upper lip. Her passenger, Noreen Rau, 7, of 1652 Pokona Ave., Stroudsburg, suffered a bump on the forehead. Both were released after treatment at the General Hospital dispensary.

Police said she was turning into the east entrance of the school and turned to talk to the child. Her auto struck the car of Theron Frantz, 1078 W. Main St., police said.

Damages totalled $165.

Three Cars Are Damaged

Brodheadsville—Three cars were involved in a collision which caused $300 damages a half mile south of here on Route 209 at 10 a. m. Saturday.

State police said the car of Michael Sicardi, 28, Berone, N. J. led; next was the auto of Arman J. Seontracike, 30, Cleveland, Ohio, followed by the car of James J. Ryan(32, White Plains, N. Y. Ryan ran into the rear of the car ahead, shoved it into the lead car, police said.

There were no injuries.

Three Governors Are For Balanced Budget Before Tax Cutting Attempts

Seattle, (AP)—Three Republican governors said yesterday Congress should balance the budget before it attempts to cut taxes.

Govs. Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin, Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey and Arthur B. Langlie of Washington agreed generally the political risks of failing to reduce taxes are less than those of continued red ink spending.

The three, considered as among President Eisenhower's closest political advisers among the governors, spoke out at news conferences as the 45th Annual Governors' Conference prepared for a brief flying visit by Eisenhower after the state funeral today.

Eisenhower will sit in on a discussion of natural resources where his administration's power policies will be among the main topics.

It was evident the Republicans among the governors, publicly pleased with the way the President is running his job, would give him strong backing for his proposals to increase the 275-billion dollar debt limit and to keep taxes high while efforts are made to balance the budget.

Wisconsin's Kohler put their views succinctly when he said:

"We have a political dilemma in which it is bad if you don't cut taxes and bad if you do. But I believe the political effect of deficit spending is worse than not cutting taxes.

"I think the record of this administration is such that Republicans can win in the 1954 congressional elections without cutting taxes, despite the fact that this was a cardinal point in last year's campaign."

He agreed with New Jersey's Driscoll and Washington's Langlie that Eisenhower has lost none of his political popularity. Driscoll said he believed Eisenhower had gained in popularity since his sweep in the November, 1952, election.

Democratic Stategists Depending On Stevenson To Rebuild Party For '54

Washington, (AP)—Democratic party strategists are depending on Adlai Stevenson to help them put the party's balance sheet in the black and elect as many Democrats as possible in next year's congressional elections.

Stevenson, the party's presidential candidate in 1952, returns in three weeks from a world tour.

Three major speeches are now on the tentative Stevenson calendar—the first in Chicago in mid-September, the second and third to follow at roughly 6-week intervals, one probably in the Southwest and the other in the Southeast.

The Democratic National Committee, headed by Stephen A. Mitchell, a Chicago lawyer, still owes $270,000, a little less than its debt the day after Stevenson's defeat by President Eisenhower last November.

In an effort to tap sentiment of local and state Democratic leaders throughout the nation and generate party enthusiasm, Mitchell has traveled 50,000 miles since February.

He's sat down with party leaders in all but 14 states.

It is no secret that efforts by anti-Stevenson elements to oust Mitchell as chairman of the national committee have been under way for some time. His 1953 travels, almost unprecedented in recent Democratic party history, have had two principle aims: consolidating his own position and seeking to infuse new spirit, particularly among young Democrats.

Mitchell is just 50 and, until his appointment a year ago, lacked professional political experience.

His present thinking on the Democratic party, and Stevenson's place in it, can be reliably reported as follows:

Adenauer To Run

Bonn, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will run for reelection to his seat in the Bundestag (lower house of Parliament) in this capital city, it was announced yesterday. Bonn is regarded as a safe bet for Adenauer's Christian Democratic party in the Sept. 6 general elections.

Police From Two States Seek Killer

Pittsburgh (AP) — State police in Ohio and Pennsylvania ran down meager clues yesterday in the slayings of two sleeping truck drivers and wounding of a third, hoping to stop a mad gunman who struck his first blow a week ago.

Alarmed truckers and their unions have offered rewards totaling $11,000 for conviction of the slayer who has struck every third day since his first victim was found on the Pennsylvania Turnpike July 25.

Police patrols were increased and truckers added their own volunteer patrols after the second victim was found shot to death in his parked truck last Tuesday.

The victims were Lester B. Woodward, 30, of near Harrisburg, and Harry F. Pitts, 39, of Bowling Green, Va. Woodward, whose body was found first, had been robbed. Pitts' money and a wrist watch were on his body.

The third man was critically wounded, but is expected to recover. He is John K. Sheperd, 34, of West Alexander, Pa. His money and a wrist watch were taken after he was shot Friday.

Sheperd was shot in the face as he slept in his truck near Lisbon, O., a few miles from the Irwin, Pa., entrance to the Pennsylvania Turnpike. He told police he saw a light colored auto speed away after he was shot.

Pennsylvania state police said the same .32 caliber automatic pistol was used in both slayings.

Former Maine Governor Is Crash Victim

Allentown, Pa. (AP)—Three longtime friends and political associates, one of them a former governor of Maine, were killed yesterday when their private plane fell apart and crashed in a densely wooded game preserve.

Pennsylvania state police identified the dead as:

William Tudor Gardiner, 61, of Bath, Maine and Boston, Mass., a decorated hero of both World Wars, outstanding collegiate athlete, and former governor of Maine.

Edward E. Chase, 60, of Cape Elizabeth, Maine, a member of the Maine legislature and an investment broker.

Edwin S. Burt, 60, of South Portland, Maine, a Portland wholesale groceryman.

The trio, flying in a Beechcraft Bonanza plane, were returning to Boston from a reunion of the 56th Pioneer Infantry Association at Shamokin, Pa., when the plane crashed into the hillside of the state game preserve 13 miles north of this central eastern Pennsylvania City. Rain and heavy clouds were reported in the area at the time.

The Lehigh County sheriff's office said a preliminary investigation showed the right wing of the Beechcraft Bonanza type plane had ripped from the craft, sending it hurtling to earth on a wooded hillside in the state game commission reserve.

Gardiner, 61, was governor of Maine from 1929 through 1932. Burt, 60, was a Portland wholesale groceryman and Chase, 60, was an investment banker.

All were veterans of the old First Main Heavy Artillery, a National Guard unit that served overseas in World War I. They were returning to Boston from a veterans reunion at Shamokin, Pa.

Gardiner was also a veteran of World War II. With Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, now commanding the Eighth Army in Korea, Gardiner made a daring and hazardous trip into German-held Rome before American forces invaded Italy in 1943.

Sunbury Man Charged With Manslaughter

Sunbury, Pa. (AP) — Sunbury police yesterday charged Harold Frederick Diehl Jr., 26, with manslaughter in connection with the death of a Sunbury construction worker.

Police Chief Clifford Gass said Diehl is being held on charges of striking William Lenig, 56, in the face and causing the man's death by the blow.

Cabinet For Italy Will Be Attempted

Rome (AP) — Attilio Piccioni, 61-year-old advocate of a go slow reform policy for Italy, agreed provisionally yesterday to try and form a new government.

The graying Christian Democrat who helped pioneer aviation in Italy conferred for three hours with President Luigi Einaudi. Piccioni then told newsmen he would start a round of discussions aimed at putting together a Cabinet.

COLLISION WITH THREE PARKED CARS did this to the front end of car of Thomas Tees Landis, Philadelphia, arrested in East Stroudsburg at 3:40 a.m. Saturday and charged with drunken driving, police said. Damages were expected to top $2,000. A truck was virtually wrecked. (Daily Record Photo)

Body Of Sen. Robert A. Taft Is Returned To Capitol Rotunda For Funeral Services Today

Washington, (AP) — Robert A. Taft returned to the national capitol for the last time last night to receive in death the homage of the little and the great.

The body of the Ohio senator, who died in New York Friday of cancer, came back to the scenes where power and fame were his in his lifetime.

Yesterday the body of the Senate majority leader lay in state in the rotunda of the capitol, beneath the great gray dome so that personal friends and those who knew Taft only as a big name might file past the bronze casket in parting tribute.

Today there will be a state funeral in the rotunda—an hour reserved in the past for only 12 distinguished Americans. President Eisenhower, who called Taft's passing a tragic loss to the nation, will attend. So will cabinet and supreme court members, congressmen, and senators who toiled for and against their Ohio colleague.

Then on Tuesday, services for the family and intimate friends will take place in Cincinnati, and Taft will be buried there a mile from the family home.

In Washington, Taft's death left a vast void. They called him "Mr. Republican." He ran the Senate with a firm, deft hand. A word from him often could breathe life into legislation or kill it.

Senate Republicans meet Tuesday to choose a successor as majority leader. Many believe at this point that Sen. William F. Knowland of California has the inside track. Taft picked Knowland to act as leader during his fatal illness.

For yesterday, matters such as these were put aside to honor the man sleeping beneath the Stars and Stripes in the rotunda.

The body of the senator was flown from New York yesterday morning in a military air transport plane. A military escort had accompanied it from a Manhattan funeral home to Mitchell Field on Long Island.

Oak Ridge Atomic Strike Called Off

Oak Ridge, Tenn. (AP) — Union leaders, under government pressure, yesterday called off a threatened second atomic production strike set for midnight last night.

They took the action after Secretary of Labor Martin Durkin summoned leaders of the AFL Atomic Trades and Labor Council to Washington for a conference Saturday. The vote was to sit tight until President Eisenhower's atomic energy labor panel can review the situation fully.

Basically, the action puts the situation right back where it was last Tuesday, when 3,500 striking AFL production workers agreed to return to work and submit their demand for a 10½-cent hourly wage increase to the panel. The strike Monday and Tuesday also [illegible] 6,000 AFL construction workers who refused to cross picket lines.

Present scale ranges from $1.51 for laborers to $2.49 for technicians.

After the workers returned, panel member Thomas W. Holland began talks with the Council and the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Co. which operates the plants for the Atomic Energy Commission.

Carbide offered five cents and one additional paid holiday a year.

But during the week, Holland reported negotiations had reached an impasse, and yesterday Durkin issued his summons for the union leaders to fly to Washington, after the second strike was threatened.

Lafayette Gets $2,000 Gift

Easton, Pa. (AP)—A gift of $2,000 by Lehigh Portland Cement Co. to Lafayette College for the establishment of a scholarship was announced yesterday by Dr. Ralph C. Hutchinson, college president.

Mossadegh Enemy Dies

Tehran, Iran, (AP)—An opponent of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh died yesterday from wounds suffered in a street battle as this capital awaited the opening of a controversial national plebiscite on the Premier's policies. The dead man is Mirza Hadapur, 50, a businessman supporter of Ayatullah Seyed Abolghassem Kashani.

East Berlin Hunger Riots Smashed By Soviet Police Barring Millions Food

Berlin, (AP) — East German troops and police crushed hunger riots in the Soviet zone last night and barred 18 million needy from free American food in West Berlin.

The Red blockade of this temporary relief capital cut off nearly all highway and rail traffic from five Russian-occupied provinces.

Heavily-armed infantry battalions were thrown last night into the highway crackdown which reinforced a railway travel ban imposed last night.

Troops opened fire when a mob stormed the closed railway ticket office in Cottbus, Brandenburg, eye witnesses reported. Bullets whistled over the heads of the enraged demonstrators. Six ringleaders were arrested.

Police clubbed rebellious workers fighting to get aboard Berlin-bound trains in Jena, Potsdam, Gera, and Rathenow.

Troop patrols began searching all vehicles on highway approaches to the city after tough employes from the Leuna synthetic gasoline refinery in Saxon-Anhalt were reported to have set out on a Berlin road march today.

West Berlin's welfare centers, where 250,000 food packages for East Germans had been expected to be given out during Sunday, were deserted last night.

At the city hall, where thousands had waited every night previously, only one applicant turned up—a bicyclist from Dresden.

Communists terror had killed off relief for the Soviet zone in a single day.

Communist police glued large placards saying "Ami American swine' 'and "Ami sow" on the backs of men and women caught returning to Potsdam with food gifts.

Railway workers said they saw thousands of confiscated food packages piled up by Red soldiers at elevated railway stations just outside the Berlin city limits. It was estimated 50,000 parcels have been seized in 24 hours.

Red security agents carried out a house-to-house hunt in East Berlin last night for zonal residents attempting to hide with their free food until the city blockade is relaxed.

Dulles Says Allies Will Be Informed

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles, leaving for talks with South Korea's President Syngman Rhee, assured America's other allies yesterday there will be full consultations with them on the future of Korea.

In a statement made just before he boarded a 4-engined Air Force transport for the long flight to Seoul, Dulles said the struggle for a "peace with justice" in Korea now enters its second phase, with the ending of active warfare by truce agreement.

"It is clearly appropriate," he said, "that there should be a preliminary exchange of views with the government of the Republic on Korea, which was the victim of the Communist aggression and which contributed so mightily to stopping that aggression.

"But the United States," Dulles added, "will not finally determine its position in relation to the forthcoming political conference on Korea's future and its procedure until we have had the benefit of wider consultation."

Aides said the reference to wider consultation was a clear assurance to other allies in the Korean War, like Britain and France, that there would be the fullest consideration of their views and an effort on the part of the United States to coordinate its policies with theirs for the political conference.

This conference, recommended by the armistice agreement that was signed one week ago, must be opened by late October.

Ike Believes Fight To Avoid Is Fighting Among Ourselves

—by Stanley High

(A senior editor of the Reader's Digest, Mr. High was on President Eisenhower's staff during the 1952 campaign.)

How far, in the U. S., we had gone toward realizing the Leftist ideal of government by conflict and division is pretty well proved, I think, by the numbers of Americans — not all Leftist by any means — who appear astonished at and even impatient with President Eisenhower's determination to establish national unity.

After 20 years of divide-and-rule, the impression seems to have taken hold that the successful practice of politics requires the setting of group against group, and that, to be recognizably effective, the leadership of a national administration must be punitive.

It is true, of course, that the Eisenhower doctrine of conciliation rather than conflict, and his aim to avoid breaks rather than encourage them, have made Washington, for those who love a fight, a less exciting spectacle than, for the last two decades, it has been. But it is the kind of less-exciting spectacle we will have to get used to.

For, fighting man though he has always been, the fact is that the President—so long as there is any shred of hope for peace—abhors a fight. And he passionately believes that, in a world like ours, the one kind of fight we can't afford is fighting among ourselves.

This is not only the President's working philosophy. It is an expression of what is probably the most outstanding and the least emphasized of his personal qualities, i.e., his authentic humility. It has been a long time since the White House had an occupant

Reject Commie Anti-Red Cross Proposals

Munsan, Korea, Monday (AP) — The United Nations Command Sunday flatly rejected a Communist proposal that Red Cross activity be restricted in the exchange of more than 87,000 war prisoners starting Wednesday.

The Communist repatriation subcommittee of the Military Armistice Committee sought to confine 60-man joint Red Cross teams to Kaesong, Red truce headquarters in North Korea, and to Munsan, the Allied headquarters in the south.

However, Col. L. D. Buttolph, acting as senior member of the U. N. Repatriation Commission, sharply reminded the Reds in a one-hour 36-minute session that the armistice agreement called for Red Cross teams to visit all prisoner of war camps to comfort the prisoners and distribute gift articles.

The joint repatriation group was scheduled to meet again today at Panmunjom and sign an "order of procedure" agreement, wrapping up all details of the Red Cross inspections.

Throughout the war the Reds refused to permit international Red Cross teams to enter Communist stockades deep behind the front lines. Apparently the Reds still sought to keep Western eyes from combing over North Korean territory.

The Red Cross dispute, reminiscent of the two-year truce negotiations, caused the workers to delay until Tuesday their departure for North and South Korean prisoner camps. Originally the mercy teams planned to start on Monday morning, crossing the buffer zone between the opposing armies to carry comfort packages to men in their last hours of captivity.

The U. N. Command call a full scale drill yesterday involving thousands of men to test every joint in the pipeline that will speed homeward 12,763 Allied prisoners including 3,313 Americans, and 74,800 North Koreans and Chinese.

Fifty American soldiers bound for home were selected to play the role of returning U. S. war prisoners in a full trial run of Operation Big Switch.

Mass preparations for the exchange sparked excitement at Munsan and overshadowed other work on the Korean armistice.

The actual exchange starts Wednesday when the first 400 Allied captives including sick and wounded arrive at Panmunjom for processing.

Peiping radio said the first batch of non-Korean prisoners including sick and wounded were due at Kaesong yesterday and a second group was leaving Pyoktong prisoner camp on the Manchurian border for the same destination.

The U. N. Command has "stockpiled" Chinese and North Korean prisoners in holding points near Seoul and Munsan for delivery at the rate of 2,400 able bodied and 360 sick and wounded daily.

While the prisoner exchange commanded major attention, South Korean President Syngman Rhee re-stated his armistice views in Seoul as a prelude to conferences this week with Secretary of State Dulles.

In written replies to questions by foreign correspondents, Rhee pledged the Republic of Korea would take no action by itself so long as the United Nations "stand firmly" by its objective of reuniting Korea during the political conference with the Reds.

"If the United Nations should retreat from that position we should then have to face the situation alone," Rhee said. "We are struggling for our survival as a free nation . . ."

Dulles was due in Seoul Tuesday (Monday, U. S. time) for talks with Rhee on a defense pact and procedure at the post-armistice political conference.

Reds Have 300 A Bombs

New York (AP) — Dr. Ralph Lapp, atomic physicist, criticized administration defense cuts last night and said the Russians are "approaching the 300 mark" in atomic bombs.

Lapp, postwar adviser to the armed forces, said during a television interview on ABC's "At Issue" program that "even under ideal defense conditions" a few enemy bombers could go through to bomb this country.

Walter Votes Against Bill On Refugees

Washington, (P) — Pennsylvania House members voted 24 to 6 last week to admit, on an emergency basis, 217,000 foreign refugees.

The six voting against the measure were Reps. Bush, Gavin, James, King and Mumma, Republicans, and Walter, Democrat.

The bill was approved 221 to 185.

In the Senate a bill to admit 200,000 refugees was approved 63 to 30. Sens. Duff and Martin, Republicans, both voted yes.

The two measures then were sent to a House-Senate conference committee so that a compromise could be worked out.

Other votes:

Senate:

Passage, 69-10, of a bill to appropriate $6,745,318,202 for foreign aid through the Mutual Security Agency. Duff and Martin both voted yes.

Passage, 45-43, of a compromise bill to provide for federal jurisdiction over the submerged lands of the continental shelf beyond state boundaries. Martin voted yes. Duff did not vote.

A bill dealing with submerged lands within state boundaries has already become law.

House:

Passage, 209-163, of a [illegible] to create a special committee to investigate tax-exempt foundations.

Twelve Pennsylvanians voted yes: Reps. Bonin, Bush, Carrigg, Dague, Fenton, Gavin, Graham, James, King, Mumma, Stauffer and Van Zandt, all Republicans.

Fifteen voted no: Reps. Corbett, Fulton, Kearns, Saylor, Scott and Simpson, Republicans, and Barrett, Buchanan, Byrne, Eberharter, Granahan, Green, Kelley, Rhodes and Walter, Democrats.

Three did not vote: Reps. McConnell, Republican, but paired as though voting yes; Chudoff and Morgan, Democrats, but paired as though voting no.

Police Hold New York Parolee

Police Saturday said they arrested a New York parole violator who forced his way into a closed back porch on N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg early Saturday.

Police were alerted by a telephone call at 1:50 a.m. from residents of 562 N. Courtland St. The residents "heard noises" near the back of the house, they told police.

Officers Donald Quick and Louis Caramella went to the spot. On the back porch, they said, they found Russell Carl Gilman, West Chazy RD2, N.Y., a town near Plattsburgh.

Police said he had forced open a screen door on the porch, to gain entrance.

Questioned, Gilman admitted being a parole violator who had been sent to Elmira Reform School for "selling a truckload of iron," according to Police Chief Arthur Swink.

He was committed to the county jail, where he is being held for a parole officer from New York.

In his original statement, police said, Gilman told of hitchhiking, getting a ride with three men. They "ran him" around 562 N. Courtland St. three times, and he was "afraid he was going to be beaten," so he jumped out, hid on the back porch, he told police.

Four Killed. Three Hurt. In Wreck

Flemington, N. J. (P) — Four youths were killed and three injured yesterday when their car ran off the Milford-Frenchtown road, plowed 90 feet through a ditch and piled up against a concrete abutment.

Killed instantly were Raymond W. Harrison, 22, of Stockton, the driver, and Kenneth L. Laux, 17, of Pipersville, Pa. Thirteen-year-old Charles Weaver of Erwinna, Pa., died five hours after the early-morning accident, and Roy Hart, 17, of Kingwood Ave., Frenchtown, 13 hours after, in Hunterdon County Medical Center.

The hospital reported the other three youths, all injured seriously, were Harry Haraszykuo, 17, Flemington; and Richard Manchur, 16, and Jack Bittenmaster, 17, both of Frenchtown.

The crash happened in Alexandria Township at 2:25 a.m.

One Injured, $200 Damages, In Collision

An estimated $200 property damage resulted from a two-car collision near Tannersville on Route 611 yesterday.

Police said the accident occurred when John Belasco, 50, of 278 Sherman Ave., New York City, attempted to make a left turn off the highway from the center lane.

Belasco was going north on the road. Another car, driven by F. John Twardy, 35, of 90 W. 92nd St., Bayonne, N. J., hit Belasco's vehicle in the rear end.

Twardy's 16-month-old son, Paul, was slightly injured in the accident. Damages to Twardy's car were estimated at $50, confined to a front fender and headlight.

Belasco's car was damaged an estimated $150, including the right rear fender and door.

Glen Lyon Man Named Legion Commander

Pittsburgh, Pa. (P) — The Pennsylvania American Legion ended its 35th annual convention Saturday by electing Atty. Paul R. Selecky of Glen Lyon commander and participating in a mammoth parade.

Selecky, a 43-year old navy veteran of World War II and father of six children, polled 1,688 votes to easily defeat three other candidates.

Joseps Gavenonis of Mildred received 869 votes, William Netherington of Selingsgrove 50, and Charles Millar of Hawley, one.

Selecky, joined by his wife and children saw the parade from stand. He assumes office in September, succeeding H. M. Walker of Langhorne.

The parade marched through Pittsburgh more than two hours. Included in the line of march were more than 100 musical organizations and representatives of the 908 legion posts throughout the commonwealth.

Fenders Are Damaged In Local Crash

The car of W. H. Baumgartner, 71, Saylorsburg RD1, collided with the left rear fender of the car of Harold G. Traher, 32, Pittston, at 6:55 a.m. yesterday in Brodheadsville, State police said there last night.

Damages were $70 to the Traher car and $50 to the Baumgartner vehicle, troopers estimated. There were no injuries.

Conference Is Called On Setting Up Machinery For Collection Of Sales Tax

Harrisburg, Pa., (P)—The state revenue department starts today to draw up a list of things that are taxed and those exempt under Pennsylvania's new 1 per cent sales tax.

Secretary Otto F. Messner called a series of conferences with representatives of retailers, manufacturers and industry to get their views to clear the way for putting the levy into effect Sept. 1.

The conferences, lasting most of the week, will be held in Messner's office in the finance building with a representative of the justice department participating.

The conferences were called as the starting point toward preparation of a detailed booklet of instructions on administration of the broad base tax, estimated to produce 125 million dollars in two years. It is earmarked for education.

The sales tax law itself lists a long string of exemptions from the levy but officials conceded many others are on the fringe which will require official determination as to whether they are taxed or exempt. Some of the rulings may eventually reach the courts for judicial decision.

Specific exemptions include food, clothing, shoes, medicine on prescription, meals at public eating places and religious articles. All purchases of 10 cents or less are exempt with the tax started at purchases of 11 cents.

Community Fair Will Benefit Tobyhanna Township School

Opens Friday At Pocono Pines Grounds

Pocono Pines—Final preparations for this district's second annual "Community Fair on the Mountaintop" are now being made.

The fair will open Friday, Aug. 7. It is slated to run two days, ending Saturday night with square and round dancing.

Proceeds from the fair will be turned over to the Tobyhanna Township public school system.

The community celebration will begin officially at 7 p. m. Friday with a parade. Leaders will be the Drum and Bugle Corps of the George N. Kemp post, American Legion, East Stroudsburg.

A large number of organizations — several in uniform — will take part in the parade, fair officials said last night.

Included in the line of march will be the Pocono Lake Legion Post, Boy Scouts from local chapters, Little League baseball team and the Tobyhanna Township Volunteer Fire Company.

Marchers will assemble at the Pocono Crest Casino proceeding to the schoolhouse by way of Route 940.

At the school building, formal dedication of the 1953 fair will be made in honor of an outstanding community resident. Nominations for the honor have been made previously. The selection is kept "top secret" by fair officials until the dedication is made.

Following announcement of this year's honor resident, the exhibits and contests will be opened to the public.

No admission is charged to any of the fair's demonstrations or shows. Payment is on a strictly "voluntary" basis.

Saturday the fair will open at 10 a. m. A series of contests and other attractions will continue through the day until midnight.

One of last year's most popular features—a bake sale featuring home-made pastries, cakes and breads—is scheduled for 10 a. m. Saturday.

Games and contests will be held beginning at 1 p. m. with "events for all ages", according to the fair committee. Prizes are awarded in most of the events.

Two organizations known locally for their bow-and-arrow skills will conduct an archery demonstration on the fairgrounds. Exhibitors are the Weatherly Archey Club and the Pocono Bowmen.

Both a "King" and "Queen" of horseshoe pitching will be crowned Saturday night.

Present plans call for an outdoor "street dance" at 8 p. m. Saturday as a climax to the two-day activity. In case of rain the dance will be held in the Tobyhanna Volunteer fire house. Both square and round dancing will be featured, fair committee members said.

SHE SAWS, YOU SEE. Second-place winner in last year's "Women s Buck-Sawing" contest at the Pocono Pines Community Fair, Mrs. Emma Wildrick, 72, of Blakeslee, does a little practice sawing in preparation for the 1953 event which will be held Friday and Saturday, Aug. 7 and 8 at the Pocono Pines School grounds. Contest is open to all. No entry fees charged. Mrs. Ed Lewis, Pocono Lake, is in charge of entries. Buck-sawing is only one of the events which will be held as part of the annual fair celebration. Six Mile Chase By Police Results In Seven Charges Against Three Persons

A six-mile chase by State troopers Saturday night resulted in arrest of a Snydersville driver and filing of seven charges against him and two friends.

Police said Calvin Kunkle, 19, is in the county jail pending hearing today on charges of disorderly conduct, speeding, reckless driving, improper passing and failing to stop at a stop sign.

A passenger, Calvin Cavanagh, 28, of 727 Monroe St., Stroudsburg, was charged with disorderly conduct. A charge of failing to have a muffler on his auto was lodged against Norman Bardonnex, 24, of 512 Sarah St., Stroudsburg, police said. Troopers said it was in Bardonnex's car, borrowed after a company picnic Saturday, that Kunkle passed them going north on Route 611 about 8:50 p. m.

The car sped by troopers Don Henzey and Peter Walsh and the patrol car pulled out of a slow-moving line of traffic to start in pursuit.

The squad car went up to 90 or 95 miles an hour in its attempt to catch the speeding auto, police said. The other vehicle turned south at Bartonsville and went down Route 12. Still the patrol car was unable to catch up, police said.

Reaching Snydersville the car turned east toward Stroudsburg again. The police car followed.

Police said Kunkle started passing a line of cars, then forced one of them off the road on the right while avoiding a collision with oncoming traffic. The car swung left off Route 209 onto a township road, police said.

Henzey and Walsh stayed in pursuit. Shortly they found the car parked behind a barn on the George Heller farm, they said. Cavanagh and Kunkle were still in it.

Hearing today for Kunkle will be before Justice of the Peace William N. Walton, Stroudsburg.

Cavanagh was given a hearing Saturday night. He pleaded guilty and was fined one dollar.

Referring to the muffler-less car, troopers said they had received a number of complaints about noisy exhausts from residents in the Sarah and Monroe Sts. area.

Slightly more than two months ago Kunkle was the object of another automobile chase by police which wound up with his car crashing into a fuel storage tank at the intersections of N. Second and Third Sts. in Stroudsburg.

That time East Stroudsburg officers started after the Snydersville man allegedly caused minor damage to a truck at a railroad crossing, then swung around and sped away.

Police gave chase, followed Kunkle's car, lost it, picked it up again near the State bridge and followed it on a siren-screaming ride into Stroudsburg, where Kunkle lost control and the accident occurred.

Three Cars Collide In Rain Storm

Saylorsburg—Rain at 3:55 p.m. yesterday caused a three-car collision in a line of south-bound traffic on Route 115.

Brodheadsville State police said Mrs. Frank Young, passenger in the rearmost car, was bruised and shaken but said she would seek treatment from her family doctor.

In the lead was Julius Parini, 34, Pittston crane operator; second was Andrew Fedor, 22, Wilkes-Barre laborer, police said. They slowed down, John E. Young, 47, Merchantsville, N. J. engineer, applied his brakes too late but his auto skidded into the car ahead and the second collision followed, police said.

Damages totalled $375.

Two Autos Damaged In Collision

Snydersville — Damages were $175 when two cars collided near here at 3:30 p.m. Saturday on Rt. 209. There were no injuries.

Brodheadsville State police said Helen E. Kent, 56, Glen Rock, N.J., was driving her car "on the left of the center line." It collided with the vehicle of John B. Schallhamer, 18, Stroudsburg RD3, police said.

Services Held For Mrs. Cox

Services for Mrs. Essie Cox, 50, Stroudsburg RD3, will be at 2 p.m. Monday at Warner funeral home, Stroudsburg, with Rev. George Wolfe officiating. Burial will be Stroudsburg Cemetery.

Dead Battery Causes Crash Prosecution

Scotrun—A dead battery indirectly caused collision of two cars, $1,000 damages and injury of two East Stroudsburg women on Route 611 here early yesterday.

Mount Pocono State police said James Lowell, Angle, 36, Bangor, was pushing his car on the highway after his battery ran down. The vehicle bore no lights, police said.

Angle's car was struck by the car of Betty Jane Brodhead, 28, of 339 Lincoln Ave., East Stroudsburg, who was carrying as a passenger Helen Zirm of the same address, police said.

The Brodhead auto was thrown out of control by the impact, left the highway and rolled down an embankment, police said. The women were cut, bruised and shaken up, police said, but said they preferred treatment by their family doctors.

Police said Angle was later found in a diner nearby having a cup of coffee.

He was charged with having no operators' license and with leaving his vehicle unattended after an accident and failing to identify himself. The latter charge is a summary offense under the motor code, police said.

Angle was committed to the county jail. He will be taken for hearing today before Justice of the Peace John R. Lesoine, Tannersville.

32 Swimmers To Get Red Cross Awards

Officials at Stroudsburg playground have recommended award of Red Cross swimming certificates to 32 children who recently completed a six-week course at the borough pool.

According to Samuel Wells, playground supervisor and Mahlon Serfass, in charge of the pool, the following are now eligible for "beginners' certificates:"

Warren Loney, Carla Holmgren, Rosalie Chotson, Werner Graef, Gertrude Hellmann, Wesley Deeds, Bonny Katz, Earl Eryey, Terry Bond, John Carson.

Joyce Deeds, Carol Deeds, Marietta Grey, John Grey, Richard Hellmann, John Howard, Karen Keiper, Billy Lopez, Tommy Lopez, Roxy Lebo, Billy Newhart.

Robin Roth, Donald Serfass, Clarence Transue, Marjorie Drake, Susan Lakey and Mary Anne Nevil.

Those eligible to receive "intermediate certificates" are: Nancy Jo Flory, Susan Balmer, Claus Graef, Betty Ann Ace and Patty Granville.

Beginners instruction was held by Katherine Papson. Peter Gearhart was in charge of intermediates. They were assisted by Mary Ellen Henning and Virginia Robinson.

An estimated 175 children attended. Classes in junior life saving and diving are now being held each weekday at 11 a.m. under the guidance of Miss Henning and Gearhart.

An "instructors' course" will be held each night this week beginning at 6 p. today. The pool will be closed to the public after that hour. It will, however, be open Tuesday from 1 to 6 p.m., according to Mr. Serfass.

Dr. Theodore S. Hsu will be out of town July 23 to August 9, 1953. Office hours as usual, August 10, 1953.—Adv.

Arrest Follows Four Car Crash; Police Narrowly Escaped Being Injured

A drunken driving charge was lodged against a Philadelphia man after police said his car struck three parked autos on N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, at 3:40 a. m. Saturday.

He was Thomas Tees Landis, who pleaded guilty at a hearing later in the day before Justice of the Peace Marshall H. Neyhart, East Stroudsburg.

He was committed to county jail in default of $500 bond pending hearing.

East Stroudsburg police said the accident occurred at a point east of Milford Crossing. Landis was traveling north.

Police said his car narrowly missed striking Officers Donald Quick and Louis Caramella, and a motorist they were interviewing. The Landis car went on to strike three other parked cars, police said.

The first was the pick-up truck of Harold Adams, of the Monroe Music Co., East Stroudsburg, which was virtually demolished, a loss of at least $1,500, police said. Another car was owned by Miss Marjorie Maynard, 397 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg with $100 damages. The third car, a New Jersey coupe, was damaged on the left side but drove off without giving any information.

Damages to the Landis car were extensive, police said, to the front end, frame, hood and motor.

Landis was pulled from his auto uninjured, police said. A local physician was called to examine the man, pronounced him intoxicated, police said.

Donald Decker Is Baptized

Donald Edward, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Decker, Wizac Ave., Stroudsburg, was baptized yesterday in services conducted by Rev. P. N. Wohlsen at St. John's Lutheran Church.

Sponsors were the parents and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Miller. Service was held at 3 p.m.

LM Breaks Production Records

All existing production and shipping records were broken during the month of July at the East Stroudsburg Line Material plant.

Almost $500,000 worth of material was produced in the plant to make July the largest production month in the company's history, and 1,945,126 pounds of material were shipped during July to make it the largest shipping month in the history of the company.

A party was given by the company in the picnic grounds behind the plant on Saturday afternoon, August 1, in appreciation of the efforts put forth by all employes during July.

Dr. J. L. Rumsey will be out of town from Aug. 2nd to Aug. 12th. —Adv.

Draft Unchanged?

The Korean truce, says Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, will not change the status of draft-eligible men who will be needed to fill quotas.

But to 23 young men who were inducted this morning in Harrisburg it meant a vast change in their status. It meant that while they would be donning the uniform of their country for two years, they would not be shipped off to stand as targets for fanatical Communist Reds in Korea.

It meant a vast difference to the parents and loved ones they leave behind, too. They will not have to live in constant fear that they will be receive the fatal words, "killed or missing in action."

True, the boys will go through rigorous training and then be sent to a foreign post to serve a full 16 months. There will be no rotation program under the new setup brought on by the Korean truce.

But their status has changed. They will be trained to kill with the fervent hope that they never will have to use that training in anger against an enemy. They will be trained to defend their country and the free world against an aggressor who we hope will never rise to threaten the freedom of the people who want only peace but must be ever alert for war.

The status of the draft remains unchanged. But the status of the draftee is much different.

Aviation Allergy?

The recent Air Force ultimatum to thirteen thousand ROTC college juniors to sign up for flight training or get out of the program is a disturbing one, for it indicates what might be termed an increasing allergy to flight on the part of our younger generation.

This seems incredible, yet the Department of Defense through its assistant secretary for manpower has declared that it can find room for only a thousand young men in non-flight posts, and thus the remainder are expected to go into training as pilots or other crewmen.

Despite this recent ultimatum, all of the nine-thousand ROTC graduates, from last month will be called to active duty between now and next May 1, and will be expected to serve the two years of active duty required of them when they enroll as undergraduates for the courses.

But in order to make room for these most recently commissioned second lieutenants, a number of older regulars and reserves will be allowed to resign, while not a few whose records do not indicate competent service will be weeded out.

The Air Force has expressed concern at the reluctance of many young men to go into flight training in recent months. Whether this is because of the increasing complexity of modern aircraft and consequent greater demand on the individual, or whether it reflects reluctance to face almost immediate combat experience as in during the Korean war is not known, but whatever the reasons the men charged with maintaining a consistent flow of new airmen have been worrying not a little bit.

We hope this is a temporary or perhaps exaggerated situation, and that young America will reach out eagerly for a chance to fly.

The Once Over —by H. I. Phillips

The Real News Newsreel

The more we read of the truce the more we think our side was lucky to get through the signing without the Commies charging that we had dropped disease germs in the ink and used a blotter smuggled in by Wall Street warmongers . . . Some stock issues act as if we had not only lost the war but had been taken prisoner . . . Public reaction all week to the Korean truce reflected high gratitude but lots of skepticism . . . Some of the comment from a few G.I.'s just home or just bound for Korea were: "So the Commies signed a truce! That means war!" . . . "A truce, eh? Well when both sides lost a war what can you expect?" . . . "It must be on the level; a week has passed and there's been no charge of a border violation." . . . "Them Reds must mean it; they didn't abuse anybody during the pen dipping." . . . "Anybody who thinks there's a chance of agreement on a Korean peace in U.N. must have inside information that Gromyko, Malik and Vishinsky are dead." . . . Other comment included: "How did they come to agree on a truce? Did they run out of recesses?" . . . "I want it verified. After all I fell for that one about the war in the American league being over." . . . "Peace! Wait until Moscow hears about it!" . . . "Yeah a truce is okay by me; I just bought a heavier helmet and had my bulletproof vest reinforced." . . . "An armistice? Good, but I wish I could trade it in for something shorter, faster and easier to operate."

Korean Mother Goose

I do not blame thee, Doctor Rhee
For viewing things suspiciously;
I don't know why, but candidly
I do not blame thee, Doctor Rhee.

They had better add three floors to the U. N. building to make extra room for the hassels on the Korean peace. The General Assembly takes over the matter August 17, to the cry of "Here we go again!" This could be the first showing of "International Rumpus Room" in 3-D. No truce was ever signed in which so many had so little confidence. The picture of these armistice routines could be used as an illustration for some ice box or deep-freeze commercial. The papers should have been signed on an ice-breaker.

The halt in Korean bloodshed cheers the world, but it takes a superoptimist to think that an enemy who has taken more than two years to agree on how to shake hands is going to greet you as a Brother Elk in 90 days. Everything that has gone on in those Panmunjom tents for the past 25 months may now seem a minor irritation compared with what's to come. The problems now on the agenda are tailored for the Commie brand of double-talk, monkey-wrench tossing and general snafu. All we can do is pray that Moscow and Peiping are not merely moving the snafu into a bigger "tent" with increased seating capacity and better voice-throwing equipment.

We will get an early peace if the Commies develop lockjaw, suffer a major case of throat scratch or do the greatest character change ever shown on any stage. Even when they turn peaceful they do it in a way to make trouble. It is our hunch that the Chinese Reds already have their allegations of border "incidents," armistice violations, etc., all packaged for immediate delivery, and that we will be lucky to get through the coming week without an allegation from Peiping that some of our peace commissioners have dumped germs on the olive branch. Nobody can soup up snafu like those babies. The usual Commie techniques can easily switch the scene from "Old Baldy" to "Old Snarl-Up" and make this merely another battle for the all-time championship in stalling.

We may be on the old treadmill again in Operation In-One-Ear-and-Out-the-Other . . . a fresh era of adjournments, recriminations, insults and invective, with the United Nations going into another nightmarish interlude in which the dove of peace is made to sound like Donald Duck. Nevertheless, let's face it: the most important thing is peace, and no opportunity for establishing it can be thrown away. If the Commies prove this time that they are not leveling, there can be no further doubt anywhere who wants trouble.

Vanishing Americanisms

"I think we are feeding the dog too much meat."

"Tell the plumber to go ahead; it won't cost much."

"We won't appeal to a higher court."

"The kids don't want the auto tonight, mom."

Another fine old tradition seems to have gone by the boards. The other seven American league clubs no longer appear permanently scared of the Yankees.

EISENHOWER JACKET

Robert S. Allen Reports

Congressional Leaders Urge Syngman Rhee Crack-Down

Washington — Important congressional elements have advised the Administration to crack down on President Syngman Rhee.

They are urging stern measures if he continues an obdurate attitude. These legislative leaders feel the aged South Korean ruler is obstinately bent on imposing his own extremist plans and concepts regardless of all other considerations, including the cost in lives and funds to the U. S.

For that reason it is held Rhee should be bluntly told that unless he changes his tune, financial aid will be withdrawn from his country.

This forceful step was frankly advocated by Senator A. Willis Robertson (D., Va.) during a conference with Treasury Secretary George Humphrey. Significantly, the cabinet leader heartily agreed with Robertson.

Following is their conversation, which was reported to President Eisenhower:

Robertson: "It seems to me we are rapidly approaching the point where we will have to be much firmer concerning our own interests in the handing out of foreign aid. South Korea is a pertinent instance of that kind. In money alone, we have spent more than $20,000,000,000 in defending that country. Yet because it is not unified after three years of costly war, something we never promised to do, Syngman Rhee is now kicking up a big fuss and undertaking to dictate our foreign policy."

Humphrey: "That is a very unhappy situation."

Robertson: "It seems to me the time has come when, without in any way interfering in the internal affairs of other countries, we should let them know that we are not going to continue this great financial burden on our people unless those governments take a more cooperative attitude toward us and stop basing their policies solely on their own interests and desire to stay in office. What do you think about that?"

Humphrey: "I am in full accord with you, Senator. I couldn't have said it as well as you have. Let me tell you about my own experience in that connection. When I first came here, I was shocked to find how much more difficult it would be to balance the budget than I had expected. On top of that, there was a constant parade of people, practically all of them from foreign countries, with the same story—that they were going broke preparing to defend themselves."

Senator Allen Ellender (D., La.): "Of course, none of them gave a thought to the fact that we have a huge national debt that is steadily increasing because of the billions we are pouring out to help them."

Humphrey: "We finally convinced them of that . . . Many of them finally realized that what was happening to us was as bad, or worse, than what was happening to them . . . We took the position that we were going to cut foreign aid; that we would go so far and no further. They can go as far as they want, but we are no longer going to pay the bill, as had been the policy previously."

Cold Turkey—Secretary Humphrey, who has been rated in many quarters as the ablest member of the cabinet, will probably remember this conference for a long time to come.

It was with members of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee during the hectic closing hours of Congress, and it is doubtful if the Treasury chief ever had an experience like it before. The brilliant Ohio business leader was bluntly grilled on a number of highly sensitive political and economic problems — chief among them his boost in interest rates and the drop in farm prices.

Significantly, some of the sharpest questioning was by North Dakota's Senator Milton Young, an official of the GOP Policy Committee. Following are the highlights of this unpublished discussion:

Young: "I have figures here from the Commerce and Agriculture Departments which show that since 1929 the national income has been approximately seven times that of farm income. But that is not the case today. Now that is a crucial economic factor, because nearly half the people of our country live on farms or in small towns of 200 or less population. These people represent a tremendous potential purchasing power. What effect do you think the recent drop in farm prices will have on the income of the federal government a year from now?"

Humphrey: "I'm sorry, but I don't have the answer to that. But I can tell you this: If farm income gets out of line, we will be in for very serious trouble."

Young: "I'm glad to hear you say that, because there are certain members of the Administration who apaprently don't realize that or don't care about it. But I want to remind them, and everyone else, that in 1928, when farm prices crashed while the rest of the economy apparently was doing very well, the whole country found itself in trouble the year after that. And in 1949, when farm income dropped, the national income also went down the following year."

Humphrey: "There is no question that we will get into a lot of trouble if a major segment of the economy is allowed to sag below the general level."

Young: "I'm convinced that's what is happening. We are moving in that direction, from all indications. Farm prices are continuing to go down while the cost of living is going up." That spells trouble."

Humphrey: "We are watching it."

Young: "I hope so, because if you don't you will have a depression on your hands in very short order."

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Republican Party Has No Substitute For Taft, Its Leader By General Acceptance

Few men, in our times, have evoked such loyalty who had nothing to offer but their minds. Bob Taft never asked anyone to favor him or to support him. In fact, at times, he even riled his personal friends and political supporters by his rejection of guile and trickery as a foul means to a good end.

Only once did I see him hurt by other men's operations and that was in the 1952 convention over the slogan, "Thou Shalt Not Steal," an unfair attack on the efforts of his partisans to hold the Texas delegation. Some months later, when I discussed the matter with him, his answer was the mild "damn fools!"

During the convention, I spoke to him about what his chances were and he said that it seemed to him that the Eisenhower people had more votes and that the task was to keep the Republican Party together. Unusual in these days, Taft has rigidly believed in political parties as essential to the continuance of our institutions.

After President Eisenhower was ensconced in the White House, six or seven of Bob Taft's personal friends met with him at dinner in a private home in New York to review the prospects of the Republican Party. Bob Taft took the position that it was his bounden duty to help Eisenhower if he could. His problem at that moment was to get to the mind of the President without the constant interference of the Palace Guard, for whom he had little respect either as men or as Republicans. He liked Ike but feared that he would suffer from a lack of familiarity with the processes of government in this country.

He spoke as though they had never been opponents. Among his intimates, he said not one word of defeat, of disappointment, of how much better he might have done this or that. Defeat was part of the game of life; the business of life had to go on.

I took him to his train after this dinner and we talked further about Ike. He reminded me that during the campaign, he had asked his friends and followers to support Eisenhower wholeheartedly. He reminded me that in the course of campaigning, he and I spoke together in Philadelphia for Eisenhower and that I had said that he was killing himself in this campaign. His reply to me that night in Philadelphia was that the Republican Party was so split that every human effort must be made not only to elect Eisenhower but to hold the party together. In the taxi in New York, he recalled that conversation and said that the essential task is unchanged and that Eisenhower and the party still needed help.

To many who did not know him, Bob Taft seemed to be a mulish reactionary. Yet when one looks at his legislative record, his was one of the most progressive voices in the United States Senate. He introduced and carried through to legislation social measures of the widest benefits. Bob Taft was a practical person who recognized that the responsibility of the legislator was to relate social advances to the national economy, to avoid the pitfalls of unconstitutionality and to maintain a balanced system of life in the United States, so that initiative and incentive and impetus to ingenuity would not be destroyed. He also recognized that in a free society, government is neither by edict nor by mob pressures, but is a compromise among contending and differing groups and between the two parties.

During the past few years, Taft's personal burdens have been heavy, indeed. His wife, Martha, long his political companion, wise in her own right, became irreparably ill. Attached to her by more than connubial ties, he found her absence from his world of action almost intolerable. He cared for her with gentleness in spite of the many public demands. It cannot be said that he took her illness in his stride; it can be said that his personality has been torn between his sense of obligation to his wife and partner and his consciousness that his party had its last chance for survival in 1952.

The Republican Party has no substitute for Robert A. Taft. He has been its leader by general acceptance in all the ways that matter in American life. There is no one to replace him.

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

Two fellows were sitting at the table next to mine in a New York restaurant.

They were having quite an argument. It must have been about money, although I couldn't hear well above the clatter of the dishes.

One of them looked a little bit down at the heels. The other was apparently quite prosperous.

Then the shabby one raised his voice.

"For heaven's sake," he exclaimed, "I've got to live, don't I?"

Whereupon the other calmly replied:

"Why?"

I have done a lot of thinking about that "why?"

It was a very cruel thing to say as a matter of fact the man in need couldn't find an answer to the question. He just got up, took his hat and walked out.

Maybe the question will stay with him for a long while. I know it did with me. And many times since then I have wondered what the proper reply would have been.

WHY do we HAVE to live?

By what right do we THINK we have to live?

What makes us so sure that LIVING is a prerogative rather than a favor.

We LIVE by no doing of ours. We did not create our life. We have done nothing to produce it.

First we were not here at all. Then, one day, we came into the world.

Whether by God's will or by biological accident does not matter here.

The fact exists that one day we were nothing, the next day we were human beings.

How dare we, how can we say that "the world owes us a living?"

Did the world ask us to come into it? Did it ask any of the billions who now populate it or have populated it in the centuries gone by?

Why did this man say "I've got to live?"

What a terrific conceit! What presumption!

How about all the so-called indispensable men, the statesmen, the generals, the creators, who played their little montary part on this earth, passed out, were missed for awhile, and are now but dust and memory?

What about the millions of young soldiers (who were certainly dear to us, and to their folks) whose lives were snuffed out by a bullet or a bomb just as a wind snuffs out a candle?

This misconception of "I've got to live" is causing strife and trouble all over the world.

These "I've got to live" people want security, pensions, more pay, longer vacations—just as if life on earth were something eternal and something of which they themselves are the masters.

Does he who thinks the world owes him a living ever realize that he really owes the world a great debt of gratitude for being permitted to live?

Does he realize that he is really a usurer in reverse? Life is a loan. The maker of the loan is entitled to his interest.

But here the borrower not only wants the capital, but he also expects to DRAW a usurious interest rather than PAY for it.

Broadway Rhythm

Broadway rhythm?.. It is the ageless siren-song of swaying hips . . . Names glowing in lights . . . Whispers in the dark . . . It is the tragic biographies of entertainers failing at the job of amusing others . . . Restless ambitions . . . The moan of a blues singer . . . Swing bands blaring their jungle tempos . . . Mendicants mumbling . . . A comic sprinkling quips . . . It is talent and beauty . . . Honesty and deceit . . . Lies and flattery . . . The riffle of a bankroll . . . The intense energy of jigging hoofers . . . Frayed shirts and a pocketful of dreams . . . It is the soul-stirring sound of thunderous applause . . . Or the muffled sobs of a defeated youngster crying herself to sleep.

The Big Street plays a unique music . . . Lights and shadows are its instruments . . . So are people and buildings . . . A nervous tempo. Bewildering . . . Yet strangely fascinating. Beautiful . . . A rhythm defying the skill of a symphonic orchestra . . . Or a brass band . . . Show me a composer who could imprison its melody . . . Sometimes it is a discordant beat . . . A gargoyle's nightmare . . . Sometimes merely silence . . . A haunting solitude . . . Like the farewells of departing ghosts . . . Majestic serenity in tune with the night . . . And it isn't just a rhythm you can hear . . . You can feel it with your heart.

The Main Stem's mazda constellation . . . A million sapphire eyes . . . Rhumbaing light . . . Jitterbugging neons . . . Darting from bulb to bulb. On gleaming wings . . . An erratic, electric pulsebeat . . . Recording the glittering rhapsody . . . The visual melody of a dazzling chasm.

Strike up the mechanical band! . . . Cars follow the steady beat of red and green batons . . . The harsh strumming of shifting gears . . . Horns trumpeting . . . The soprano shriek of brakes . . . Like a drunken dancer . . . A lumbering bus waddles down the street . . . Reeeee! A traffic cop's whistle pierces the air . . . The stridency of clanging cymbals . . . A metallic chorus' wild harmony.

A ballet of sounds in the theatres . . . The soft rustle of swaying taffeta . . . Silk swishing down the aisle . . . Bracelets tinkling . . . Programs crackling . . . The rush and crush . . . Compelling ripples of lovely torsos . . . High heels ratta-tatting on the lobby marble . . . Like castanets . . . Whirlpools of numerous conversations . . . A magical hush as the asbestos hem is ignited . . . Dimming lights slowy going to sleep . . . And the lyrical grace of a rising curtain.

Sidewalk mobs oozing from corner to corner . . . Squirming and crawling . . . Sinuous movements of a vast serpent of humanity . . . Shuffle, shuffle shuffle . . . The trend of a dull waltz . . . Confusion reigns . . . A tyranny of noise enslaves the ears . . . Within the clamor of multitudes a boy and girl touch hands . . . It strikes a chord of bliss . . . An ageless music races through their hearts . . . Newsboys' shouts leap in the air . . . Almost like cries of frightened animals . . . A drunk screams an eerie nothing . . . The tumultuous atmosphere plucks nerve strings . . . Quivering with excitement.

Sidestreet canyons echo the surrounding din . . . The sullen thunder of a great city's voice stretches . . . As far as an ear can reach . . . Sounds are scattered everywhere . . . Like a brisk wind distributing dead leaves in all directions . . . The tempest bruises itself against stone walls . . . Pours into foyers of run-down hotels . . . Flood bars . . . It roars down streets and around avenues . . . Lashing every oasis of tranquility . . . But in a few moments it reaches some shadowy corner far away . . . To be entombed in silence.

The penny arcade carnival jamboree is alive with an exultant tempo . . . Pinball machines are gulping coins . . . Steel balls roll along in a panic of glee . . . Lights gleam and bells ring . . . The sharp chatter of the shooting gallery . . . An entangled rhythm of mingled sounds . . . Laughter and shouts . . . A barker's airy stream of words flowing endlessly . . . A wonderful chaos . . . The glorious melodic beat of entertainment in action . . . Joy goes into its dance.

The Big Street is at its musical best at sunrise . . . Dawn-muted streets . . . Vibrant with beauty . . . A bird sharpens its notes . . . Listen to the bassoon cries of foghorns . . . An enchanted silence unveils its magic charms . . . A fairyland of color tints the horizon . . . The season hums its old refrain and dances through the streets on airy footsteps . . . The liquid light of sunbeams . . . It is so quiet you can almost hear the Laughter of the Gods

Baltzer-Learn Wedding At Tannersville

Tannersville—St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Tannersville, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Sunday afternoon at 2 when Miss Geraldine Ann Learn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Learn of Tannersville became the bride of Paul R. Baltzer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Baltzer of Bethlehem.

Rev. Dr. Edward Horn performed the ceremony against a background of summer flowers. Mrs. Joseph Curtis of Mechanicsburg was organist, and Mrs. Mary Paul was soloist. Among the wedding melodies she sang was "Because".

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a gown of white nylon accented with a black belt. She wore a small white hat and white shoes, and a corsage of orchids.

Her sister, Mrs. Stanley David of Wilkes-Barre was her matron of honor. She wore a sea-green nylon dress with ecru accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The little flower girls were in pastel organdies and carried old-fashioned colonial bouquets. Janet Curtis of Mechanicsburg was in pink organdy and Katurah Dodd of Tannersville in yellow organdy.

George Learn Jr., of Tannersville was best man and the ushers were Stanley David of Wilkes-Barre and Avon Paul of Mechanicsburg.

The bride's mother wore a dress of ecru lace with white accessories and a corsage of red roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue nylon dress with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception for about 125 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents. Summer flowers and a wedding cake weighing more than 20 pounds formed the decorations for the bride's table.

Mr. and Mrs. Baltzer are now on a wedding trip to Atlantic City. They plan to make their home in a new apartment on Seventh Ave., Bethlehem.

The bride was graduated from Pocono Township High School, and Joyce School of Beauty Culture. She has been employed at Rahn's Beauty Salon.

Mr. Baltzer was graduated from Schuylkill Haven High School and served as radar man for four years on the Minesweeper Jefferson. He is now employed at Bethlehem Steel.

Stephen Carey Is Honored At Grandparents

Appenzell — Stephen Carey of Rutherford, N.J., who is vacationing here at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Miller celebrated his fourth birthday. A party was given in his honor.

Among the guests who helped him to celebrate were Barbara Moyer, Pamela Goldman, Danny Moyer, Gary Hartshorn, Daryl Carey, Robert Goldman, and Robert Davies.

Refreshments were served and the guests played games. During the party a telephone call arrived from his father, Ross Carey, who had been unavoidably detained in Portland, Maine.

Picnic In Rain For Press Auxiliary And Families

"The Press Auxiliary picnic cancelled? Oh, no. We held it at the river all day Sunday."

They did, too, about 20 members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Pressmen and Assistant's Union. The picnic was held on the beach at Minisink Hills, with a tent to provide shelter from the worst of the downpour.

However the trees were thick enough to shield the picnic tables and the fires where they roasted corn, hot dogs and barbecues. These with baked beans and side dishes made up the menu.

The children played games and went boating and swinging in the hammocks.

The committee in charge included Mrs. Marion Bensley, Mrs. Jean Andress.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

The first rainy Sunday of the summer caught lots of people unprepared. The canvas had been left on the lawn, the cushions on the benches, the sweater on the tree where the man of the house had hung it when he really got warmed up to his evening lawn mowing.

And accustomed to being wakened on Sunday morning by the morning sun shining in their windows, a lot of other people slept late and had to rush like fury to make Sunday School and church.

Well, they say change is good for the constitution, but we'll just hope that this doesn't set a pattern for all the Sundays in August. As it was yesterday's rain put a damper on two family reunions and two major picnics at least.

Though I don't know about that. You lose something when you bring a picnic indoors, but on the other hand you gain in fellowship. Outdoors everybody gets scattered all over. Inside you're so close to your neighbor that conversation is not only possible but unavoidable.

And shared adversity can bring a group close together, too. Look at the Press Auxiliary who spent the whole day at the river in the rain. Never did get through the trees enough to matter, they stoutly maintained. They even went boating.

Someday I expect to see a picnic held in a downpour with everybody in raincoats and boots having an uproarious time. Bet you could, too.

'Around The Stroudsburgs

Harold Leininger, former local resident, was in Stroudsburg on Saturday where he was greeted by many friends. He has been seriously ill but is now getting along fine and expects to return to work in a couple of weeks.

Miss Matilda Mildred Price, who had a Bird Store on Third Street, Stroudsburg until she moved to Philadelphia in 1949 underwent surgery on July 3 in the Jefferson Hospital in Philadelphia. She has been ordered by her doctor to have a complete rest and is anxious to hear from friends who may write her in care of James C. Smith Memorial Home, Oakbourne, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Wheeler, of Arlington, Va., and their three children arrived yesterday from Arlington, Va., to spend a two-weeks' vacation at a cottage at Minisink Hills. They were overnight guests of Mrs. Wheeler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Price East Stroudsburg.

LaBar Family Reunion At The Nursery

The annual LaBar reunion was held on Saturday with perfect weather and a large crowd making the affair, held at LaBar's Rhododendron Nursery, a big success.

Elwood LaBar, East Stroudsburg, president, was reelected for another term. Other officers reelected included James R. Charron, vice president; Quintus LaBar, Bangor, secretary; Raymond L. LaBarre, Phillipsburg, treasurer; and Maurice L. LaBarr, of Scranton, historian.

Elwood LaBar was in charge of the entertainment and furnished music, and served as master of ceremonies.

Awards were made to the oldest man, Herbert LaBar, 83, of Philadelphia, who also took the prize for coming the longest distance; the oldest woman, Mrs. J. E. LaBar, 78, of Forty-Fort; and Mrs. Adam LeBar, East Stroudsburg who had the largest family; and Sheldon Smith, 2, who was the youngest child.

An attendance prize, donated by Frank S. LaBar of the Nursery was awarded Mrs. Quinton LaBar.

In addition to the awards, there were prizes for the games. Adult prizes went to George Sullivan, Roger LeBar, Mrs. George Giebles, and Mrs. Leonard LaBar. Children's prizes went to Ella Mae Bucek, Nancy Davis, Richard LaBar and Janet and Dennis Welser.

It was voted to hold the next reunion on August 1, 1954 at LaBar's Rhododendron Nursery.

Viola Hurtz Engaged To Air Captain

Mr. and Mrs. William Hurtz, of Stroudsburg, announce the engagement of their daughter, Viola Grace Hurtz, to Capt. Lafayette Fetherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Fetherman of Minisink Hills. They plan to be married in the near future.

The bride is employed at Bell Telephone Co. Capt. Fetherman is in the U. S. Air Force stationed at Dover, Del.

They are both graduates of Stroudsburg High School, and Capt. Fetherman has been in service since his graduation.

Trousseau Trouble Beset Men Of Tannersville

Tannersville—When the men start getting into the fashion world, as they are in Tannersville preparing for the big "Womanless Wedding" strange things are apt to happen. At least a story issuing from the men of the Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church seem to indicate as much. They report:

"An incident in a local fashion store reached near-disaster proportions this morning. It all began when Miss Lillibelle Budget (Stanley Kresge, Snydersville), walked into the Hittem and Fittem Elite Dress Shop to buy a wedding gown for her forthcoming marriage to Archibald Scratchpenny (Billy Learn, Bartonsville). It seems there were none large enough (size 53½) to fit her (him?). The clerk, fearing she would lose a sale, suggested Lillibelle buy a horse-blanket.

Gertrude Getchurgun (Ed Gerhard ,Tannersville), the matron of honor, was not about to have her (his?) friend insulted, and proceeded to tell the clerk so in no uncertain words. Action followed. Trousseaus were ripped; words were minced; veils were rent; riot raged. Then the police came. At court, the judge agreed that Lillibelle was rather round, really. He suggested that Lillibelle and Gertrude try another store. They nodded agreement, and everything was alright for the moment. But the police were not so sure, and stayed close by, just in case.

"The public is invited to come to the wedding Friday night, August 7, at 8, in the Pocono Township High School, Tannersville, and see what Lillibelle finally found. For that matter, Gertie, too. Tickets at the door, or from the Beauties of The Men's Brotherhood, Grace Evangelical & Reformed Church, Tannersville, who are donning dresses for this horrible occasion. Not a sober moment for an hour."

Bazaar Friday At Zion Lutheran

Middle Smithfield—Final plans for the annual bazaar sponsored by the Ladies Aid Society of Zion Lutheran Church, Middle Smithfield, were made at a recent special meeting of the Aid Society. The bazaar will be held on Friday, August 7, on the church lawn with August 8 as the rain date.

Homemade cake, candy, coffee, frankfurters and other refreshments will be on sale in addition to many hand-made articles made by members and friends of the Ladies Aid Society. The public is invited.

Whip a quarter cup of cream and fold it into a cup of mayonnaise; top fruit salad with this fluffy dressing.

Alice Sables Is Bride Of R. A. Cavalieri

Mount Pocono. Miss Alice Jacquelyn Sables, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Sables, of 36 Fairview Ave., Mount Pocono, and Raymond Anthony Cavalieri, of Dunellen, N. J., son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Cavalieri, of 525 North Hyde Park Ave., Scranton, were married on Saturday morning August 1, at St. Mary of the Mount RC Church, Mount Pocono.

Msgr. C. A. McHugh performed the double ring ceremony and the nuptial mass. Miss Ann Hamorski, of Pocono, was organist and James McCarthy, of Scranton was soloist. The church was decorated with bouquets of white phlox.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz-length gown of nylon tulle, with matching stole over its strapless fitted bodice. She wore a chapel veil of illusion arranged from a tiara of pearls. Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley with a white orchid center.

Mrs. James McCarthy, sister of the bride of 240 Theodore St., Scranton wore a matching gown of pale blue nylon tulle with a matching head dress and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Michael Smirne, of 22 North St. Francis Cabrini Ave., a cousin of the bridegroom served as his best man, and the ushers were A/1c Donald Sables, brother of the bride, of Columbus, Ohio, and Pat Trazzilillo, a cousin of the bridegroom, of Scranton.

The bride's mother wore a blue linen dress with lace trimming and the bridegroom's mother wore a dress of navy blue lace.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was held at "Johnnie's" Inn, Pocono Summit, followed by a reception later at Naomi Lake Boathouse in Pocono Pines. Featured at the reception was a wedding cake presented to the bride by Tony Costa of Swiftwater.

Mr. and Mrs. Cavalieri are now on a motor trip through the New England States. For traveling the bride wore a summer suit in pale blue with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

On their return they will make their home at 421 Runyon St., Dunellen, N. J.

The bride is a graduate of Stroudsburg High School and attended Scranton Lackawanna Business College. She was employed by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., in Scranton.

Mr. Cavalieri was graduated from West Scranton High School and Temple University. He is employed by Westinghouse in Metuchen, N. J.

Prenuptial showers were given by Mrs. Edward Romanowski and Mrs. Leo Sables of Mount Pocono.

Combine Meeting

The A. F. Everitt class of St. John's Lutheran Church will not hold its regular August meeting this Wednesday, but instead will combine their meeting with the Brotherhood's Ladies Night on August 25.

This Bride Wore Bandages, But So Did Bridegroom

Waynesburg, Pa., (AP)—It took more than an auto wreck to stop a Greene County wedding Saturday night.

Gene Skinner and Doris Michalik were en route to church for the ceremony when the auto in which they were riding was wrecked. Each suffered cuts on the head and face.

Nearly 200 guests were on hand at the church. They were told of the delay and to assemble at the home of the bride in about four hours. And, just four hours late, the wedding was performed—with bride and bridegroom swatched in bandages but happy nonetheless.

Pocono Chorus Transfers Outing To Playroom

The Pocono Male Chorus managed to keep to the busy schedule they had planned for their outing on Sunday despite weather that refused to cooperate.

They had planned to eat at 1:30 at the East Stroudsburg Playgrounds—and they did in the new pavilion erected this year for just such contingencies. However, the playground was too damp for their afternoon activities so they adjourned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas MacMillan, in Clearview, where the basement provided the background for their games and for the hymn sing they held before supper.

The supper, too, was held at MacMillans. There were about 30 members and their families there.

Beakleyville Picnic

Members of the Beakleyville Baptist Sunday School held a successful picnic on Saturday afternoon at Weona Park, Pen Argyl. Cars left the church at 1 o'clock. Swimming and games filled the afternoon, climaxed by the picnic supper at night.

John Walck, Carrie Seese Are Married

Miss Carrie Jane Seese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley C. Seese, of Brookside Avenue, East Stroudsburg, formerly of Canadensis, became the bride of SN John Sylvester Walck, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Walck, of 205 West 4th St., East Stroudsburg, at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon before the candle-lit altar of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg, in the presence of the immediate families.

The quiet double-ring ceremony was solemnized by Rev. William F. Wunder, Grace Church minister, before the altar which was graced with bouquets of white gladioli.

The bride was attired in a pale-blue silk street-length dress, white accessories and wore a corsage of white rosebuds. Miss Anna Seese, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a navy blue taffeta street-length dress with white accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds. Albert H. Rice, friend of the bridegroom, served as best man.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in a green print shantung street-length dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The bride's mother wore a rayon print street length dress, white accesories and wore a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride was graduated from East Stroudsburg High School with the class of 1951 and is presently employed by Brookdale Mills Inc., of Stroudsburg, and by Mr. and Mrs. Wilson S. MacIntire of East Stroudsburg RD1. The bridegroom was graduated from East Stroudsburg High School with the class of 1950 and was employed at Bogert's Service Station at Milford Crossing prior to his enlistment in the U. S. Navy in 1951. He is presently stationed on the USS Bennington which sails out of Quonset Point, Rhode Island.

Immediately after the wedding a reception was held for the bridal party and immediate families at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Walck, at 205 West Fourth Street, in East Stroudsburg.

The newlyweds left for a honeymoon through the New England States and Canada following the reception held in their honor. The bridegroom's leave expires on August 10, when he will report back to his ship in Rhode Island. The bride will temporarily make her residence with the bridegroom's parents until her husband's service with the U. S. Navy is completed.

Indoor Picnic Thwarts Weather For ITU, Families

The annual International Typographical Union picnic was held on schedule, although not at the CLU Memorial Park where it had been planned but in the basement of the CLU Club in East Stroudsburg.

Although some of the scheduled activities, like the softball game for women, had to be called off, there was still plenty of activity for the 130 members and their families who attended.

For the children there were 19 different contests arranged by Oliver Wilson and his committee with a prize for the winner in each one.

Mrs. Emily Sevison won the prize for the watermelon eating contest for women. It was a straw hat but not the kind you'd expect to find in the expensive hat box in which it was presented.

After the afternoon of games, supper was served under the direction of the Woman's Auxiliary. They had prepared ten hams, which combined with the covered dishes which members had brought, made a big meal.

Sam Ciafolo, Mrs. Sevison, J. Fielding Vollers and Mrs. Joe Michaels composed the committee chairmen.

Drake-Houser Wedding At Parsonage

Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Houser, of 95 Broad St., Stroudsburg, announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary, to Charles E. Drake of Bryant St., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alfred F. Drake.

They were married in a quiet ceremony at the parsonage of St. John's Lutheran Church Stroudsburg at 9 a.m. Saturday morning. Rev. Dr. Peter N. Wohlsen performed the ceremony. The bride's sister, Mrs. G. C. Dunn, and Mr. Dunn served as their attendants.

Also witnessing the ceremony were the bride's parents and the bridegroom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Drake.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Drake left for a wedding trip to Toronto, Canada. On their return they will make their home at 411 East Bryant St.

The bride is a graduate of Stroudsburg High School and the Methodist School of Nursing, in Philadelphia. She has been employed in the X-ray department at the General Hospital of Monroe County.

Mr. Drake was graduated from Stroudsburg High School and from Georgia Institute of Technology, Atlanta, Ga. He is chief engineer at Patterson-Kelley Co., Stroudsburg.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

One thing I'd really like to know—where in the world did the past month go? It doesn't seem possible to me that we're already half way through the first week of August. Wise shoppers are well aware of the passing weeks, however. That is why there is such a ready sale for possible gift items. This past Saturday, Hattie Walters had a very practical gift suggestion from her linen department on display in our center aisle—Cannon fingertip towels, prettily rolled and packaged in cellophane. There were boxes containing two, and larger boxes with a half dozen. The colors were vivid and eye-catching. They sold too—some going out for Christmas giving, and others as thank you gifts for weekend hostesses . . . Hundreds of Christmas cards were sold last Saturday too, and at closing time the rack right outside the cardcade looked very bare. At the moment, it seems that customers prefer choosing cards individually rather than in boxes—probably because this season's greetings are so lovely and different the shoppers enjoy handling and reading them . . . "What can a man do at Wyckoff's when he's supposed to meet his wife and can't find her?" a weary stranger inquired the other evening. "Have you visited our men's shop?" he was asked. "If so, you might have a soda back at the fountain and ask the switchboard operator to page her." The visitor nodded, "Good idea—but I'd better be back before she gets here.' I hope he was . . . One of the smile provoking sights in our store Saturday was the beautiful, curly haired child in a stroller standing back near the doll shelves while her mother purchased cards. Watching her from around a rack of luggage, we saw her jabbering away at great rate to a stuffed rag doll as big as herself, and trying to make the doll stand. The moment she caught sight of us, however, the tabloid was over . . . Cute too were the fluffy blond Pekingese pups, waiting patiently for their mistress while she shopped, and taking a peek at our Wyckoff merchandise for themselves through bright eyes of jet . . . Mary Hitesman tells me that the imitation sandwich glass, offered so inexpensively in her housewares department is one of her most popular items of merchandise. She's been carrying it several years, I know— for it was ages ago that I purchased a cream and sugar set and four small ash trays. Later I invested in salad plates, dinner plates, berry dishes and bowl. My last purchase was a water pitcher and six matching glasses, priced at $1.29 with additional glasses at ten cents each. It makes a lovely table, when used with a colorful cloth, and you needn't take my word. Hundreds of other shoppers, like Fifty Million Frenchmen, CAN'T be wrong . . . Margaret LaBar, back after several days in New York buying, tells me the new fabrics for fall and winter are exquisite. What's more, she says a great many people are buying the heavy drapery fabrics for aprons, smocks and even dresses. She brought several back with her to prove it. Could be the day is coming when social editors will be writing, "Mrs. Blank poured tea, wearing a flowered chintz afternoon dress to match the upholstery of the chair in which she sat." Might be less expensive for Dad if mother could only wear one dress per decorating season. Or would she decorate every few weeks, with new slipcovers and such? Worry, worry!

E. M. Rinehart Will Present New Feature

A new product exhibit to introduce the new Farmall Fast-Hitch for the Farmall Super C tractor and featuring several new types of International Harvester farm equipment will be held in his store all this week, E. M. Rinehart, local International Harvester dealer, announced.

On display will be a good number of the 77 new machines which have been developed and produced by International Harvester Company, in the last 770 days—on an average of one every 10 days. Leading the list will be the revolutionary new Fast-Hitch that couples implement to tractor instantly and automatically. It kas designed by IH engineers to speed up farm work and make it easier.

"We think the new Fast-Hitch is the most important development in the farm machinery field in several years," E. M. Rinehart stated. "To hitch to an implement, you just back the tractor up until the two beams on the implement snap into the hitch-sockets on the tractor."

"That's all there is to it, it's really a snap! The hitch locks instantly and automatically. In just a split second you are ready to go," said Mr. Rinehart. "You don't have to leave the seat to hitch or unhitch either. Unhitching is done by lifting a latch in each of the coupling beams."

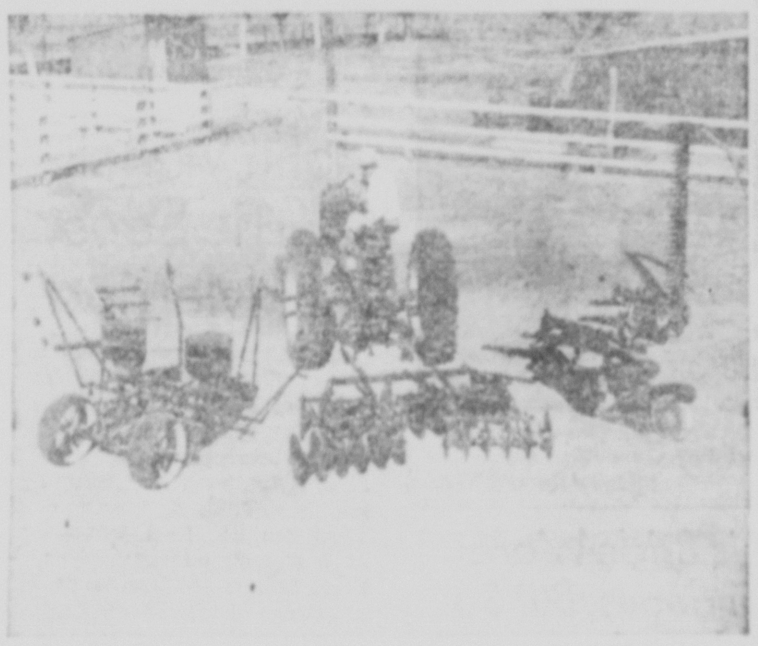
Fast-Hitch is so designed that it can be made free-floating vertically or horizontally, or it can be locked in any position required by the implement. It can also be hydraulically tilted or leveled. All positions of the hitch are hydraulically controlled.

"Another important feature," Mr. Rinehart said, "is the fact that Fast-Hitch gives the tractor driver unusually accurate control over the line of F-H implements. For example, uniform depth of the plow can be hydraulically maintained in spite of ground contour variations."

The New Product Exhibit will be held at E. M. Rineharts' International Harvester Store, 1875 W. Main Street, in Stroudsburg. All farmers and interested persons are invited to stop in anytime this week.

In the United States during periods of high employment, about half the people over 14 years of age are not in the labor force—that is they are not working or looking for jobs.

Whether you're looking for a new day-bed or a luxurious U. S. Koylon foam rubber mattress, you'll be well pleased with both the service and the merchandise at A. C. Miller's.



HERE ARE FIVE of the more than a score of farm implements which can be used with the new Farmall Fast-Hitch. The average farmer, says E. M. Rinehart, your local International Harvester Dealer, can hitch and unhitch from all implements in less time and with far less work than was required up to now. Order Coal This Summer

Claude S. Cyphers, local dealer of Famous Reading Anthracite, 548 Ann St., recommends that you order your coal NOW.

He advises his customers to place their orders now. "It's always a nice feeling to approach Winter with a full coal bin," he adds.

When you order your coal now you benefit three ways, Mr. Cyphers points out: You save money, all sizes of coal are available, and there is no last minute rush to try and beat the weather.

The Cypher's firm is also the local dealer for the Diamond T Co., and now the Cyphers firm handles a complete line of all types trailers and dump bodies. Mr. Cyphers is dealer in this area for Andrews Semi-Trailers and Kresci and Palm, manufacturers and distributors for hi-lift and dump body units. With this wide affiliation with nationally famous manufacturers of trucks and trailers, Mr. Cyphers is ready to accommodate any trucking need. The Cyphers firm is also ready to offer prospective trucking jobs to any responsible party interested in the purchase of a tractor-trailer unit for hauling coal.

Van D. Yetter Has Smoker Hay Loader

Van D. Yetter says, "Handle Hay the 'Smoker' Way." The speed and efficiency of a Smoker Bale Loader and Hay Elevator will enable you to realize the maximum feed value of your hay crop. It lifts 43 tons of hay an hour.

A Smoker Elevator will speed up bale handling at the barn to keep pace with modern hay making machines in the field. Many superior features account for a Smoker Elevator's extreme operating safety and versatility.

Bales lay flat in a Smoker's big 20" wide trough . . . not on top of flights. That's why Smoker Elevators can be elevated up to 60° . . . higher than any other elvator of comparative size.

Smoker's non-tilting flights are held at a rigid 90° angle to trough by special brackets. Bale rides between flights, flat in trough, solidly supported by these non-tilting flights. Maximum elevating height of each Elevator can be safely utilized. Sealed, self-aligning bearings and steel roller drive chain assure efficient power transmission with less vibration. Top drive pulls load up. Does not kink chains.

Smoker maximum elevating heights range from 13' to 31' without any extensions. "C" models include 7' jumbo corn hopper and extra flights. "D" models come with 8' corn drag, discharge chute and extra flights. Both "C" and "D" models will handle bags and bales when every other flight is removed. With accessories a Smoker Elevator serves with equal efficiency on all form loading jobs. For complete sizes and specifications and low prices on "Smoker" elevators, call Van D. Yetter . . . 2832 . . . or stop at Van's showrooms located along Route 402.

Miller Handles Foam Rubber Mattresses

The morning backache that three out of five Americans suffer from is due chiefly to lack of proper support in the mattress they sleep on. A. C. Miller now has the answer to this nerve-racking nuisance the U. S. Koylan Mattress. A product of U. S. Rubber Co., it is constructed of 100 percent foam rubber and is said to offer more even support to the body than regular old style spring or cotton-filled mattresses. See and ask about this marvelous product at A. C. Miller's, 4th and Main St., in Stroudsburg. The firm also stocks Sealy Sleep Products and Dayton Koolfoam Pillows.

Hintze Care Is Special

Garment designers have ignored the Washington slogan "All we have to fear is fur itself!"

They have gone all out to put mink, fox and ermine tails on everything from suits, sweaters, knit dresses, dinner dresses, street dresses, to even "Can-Can" petticoats.

Whether fur is made into a coat, cape, stole or used as a decorative trim The National Institute of Cleaning & Dyeing warns that it deserves special care and attention in cleaning.

Elwood Hintze, owner-manager of Hintze Dry Cleaning and Fur Storage, 22 S. 7th St., Stroudsburg, who is a member of the National Institute, emphasizes that fur-trimmed garments must be handled as special items.

"Perhaps you have noticed the change that has been made in labeling of fur garments," he pointed out. "Under the Fur Products Labeling Act, many of the old names that we knew are passe.

"Instead of buying Coney or beaverette," Mr. Hintze continued, "we will be buying rabbit; instead of Hudson Seal, it will be dyed muskrat; Kid will replace the names of Caracul or Chinese Kid; dyed fur seal replaces Alaska seal.

At Hintze's you'll find the ultimate in fur storage facilities.

Clair Luce Starred In Edwina Black

Chills and thrills will be in order this week when "Edwina Black," a suspense mystery drama, is presented at Pocono Playhouse.

The play opens tonight at 8:40 with Claire Luce and Joseph Anthony as its stars.

Clair Luce

Set in a suburb of London the play tells the story of an invalid woman whose death is believed to be natural at first. Then detective work reveals that her husband has been interested in the dead woman's companion.

Claire Luce will be remembered by Playouse audiences for her interpretation of Blanche DuBois, the tragic heroine of Tennessee Williams' drama "Streetcar Named Desire" which was presented here as part of the 1950 season. Miss Luce began her lengthy and versatile theatrical career with a show-stopping dance in "The Gay Divorcee," went on to give successful performances in such dramatic offerings as John Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men" and Margaret Webster's production of "The Taming of the Shrew." She was the first American actress to be invited to play Shakespeare at the Memorial Theater, Stratford-on-Avon.

Joseph Anthony has become a familiar figure to television audiences as a result of his appearances on many of the nation's top-flight TV dramatic programs. On Broadway he has appeared in Jan DeHartog's drama, "Skipper Next To God" and George Tabori's "Flight Into Egypt." His performance last week at the Playhouse in Clifford Odet's drama "The Country Girl" was one of the season's finest.

Appearing in support of the two stars in "Edwina Black" will be Playhouse regulars Tony Dowling and Jean Stapleton. Director of the play is John O'Shaughnessy. It runs through Saturday night, Aug. 8, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

Ike Believes Unity Vital To Nation

—by Stanley High

with less ego and less ego-induced belief that in him, Messiah-wise, are all the answers.

Amost entirey unnoticed was one thing which the President, in his Inaugural Address, did not say. It reveals his humility. Not once in that speech did the President use the first person singular pronoun. In all its 2281 words there was not a single "I," "Me," or "My."

From George Washington who, in his first Inaugural used 55 such pronouns, to Harry S. Truman who used 11, that ommission has occurred only once before in our inaugurals. That was the second Inaugural, in 1905, of Theodore Roosevelt. Franklin D. Roosevelt, in his first Inaugural used 31.

The President's omission was not accidental. He has a deep aversion, which he often expresses, to the public use of what he calls "the vertical pronoun": the "I" so dear to the hearts of some politicians.

This is the first "peculiarity" of his manner of address to which his speech assistants are introduced. They are never allowed to forget it. If, inadvertently, they let what seems too many "I's" slip in, he will painstakingly write and rewrite, until all or most of them are scribbled out.

As those can testify who have felt his wrath or seen him go into action when his mind is made up, the Eisenhower humility is not to be confused with meekness. It can be better described as the opposite of cocksureness.

That quality accounted, in considerable measure, for his distaste for political campaigning. Some people, he said, wanted him to talk all the time as though he had all the answers. When he didn't, he wanted to say so. He often did. From Abilene to election day, no recent Presidential candidate ever said "I don't know" so often and made so many people like it.

The President's recent unprecedented series of luncheons with Democratic as well as Republican Congressmen is not due to any desire to charm the opposition and thereby disarm it. They are an expression of his belief that the opposition may have something to offer and that, since wisdom is not exclusively Republican, the Democrats need to be listened to.

When he says, "I have never been a politician and I am not one now," he is not decrying the business of politics. He is only stating his own lack of qualification for the practice of one-track partisanship.

One man whom the President most admired was the late James V. Forrestal, the first Secretary of Defense. Forrestal, the President says, was weighed down by an innate compulsion to see both sides of a questison. Die-hards have to reckon with the same quality in President Eisenhower.

If, as could happen, the next four years see the development of a bitter-end, anti-Eisenhower bloc in Congress and the country—a Democratic parallel to the Republican hate-Roosevelt contingent—they are not likely to find the President hating back. Except where moral principle or loyalty is involved, he is a poor hater. Like all men who are honest enough to be humble, he is a much better forgiver.

This is one of his frequent expressions: "I have never known anyone to lose anything, in war or peace, by being magnanimous."

When, as the campaign progressed, Eisenhower was being pictured as a miracle-worker, his distaste mounted. With emphasis, he would declare that he was just not that good.

Then, to illustrate his feeling of limitation, he one day told this story. Returning from Europe at war's end, he went to a midwestern city for a victory celebration.

As the ceremonies concluded, a small boy broke through the crowd and ran up to the General. He looked up at him, resplendent in uniform and ribbons, and asked:

"Did you win the war?"

The General put his hand on the boy's head and replied, "No, son, I didn't win the war."

Tears came to the boy's eyes and he turned away.

"I knew," he said, "that you weren't Ike."

Reider Wins Second Feature At Stroudsburg Speedway

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Walter Cartier, one of the better known welterweight fighters in the business today, spent Saturday night at the Fernwood, one of the leading resorts in the Pike County area of the Pocono Mountains. Cartier is fresh from a surprise defeat at the hands of Garth Panter, 22-year-old sensation from Salt Lake City. Panter, a decided underdog, won a unanimous decision over Cartier at Eastern Parkway Arena, New York, last Monday. Cartier is slated to renew training in the very near future for a return bout with Panter, in the same Eastern Parkway Arena.

Cartier, according to information picked up during the weekend, had his troubles during the Panter fight and most of them came prior to the actual ring warfare. Walter reportedly passed out in his dressing room and after being revived went through with the scheduled bout, and according to the version given this scribe Walter was just able to make his corner at the end of the bout, from fatigue and not the hammering dished out by Panter.

This column was also informed that Randy Turpin's "hold-and-hit" tactics caused all the trouble in a recent London bout between Cartier and Turpin ,and not the New Yorker's retreating tactics as reports of the fight would indicate. Cartier arrived at Fernwood on Saturday afternoon and left the local resort around noon yesterday. Walter came to this area to visit Bill Flynn, social director at Fernwood and a trainer in the Irving Cohen stable of fighters during the winter months. The Cohen group of fighters includes many of the biggest names in the ring today.

Flynn has been a trainer of fighters for several years and has had personal contact with many of the biggest attractions in the ring for the past couple of years. Speaking of personal contact brings to mind the fact that Leo McMahon, the Singing Sergeant, who did a couple of numbers at Stroudsburg Speedway on Saturday night, is a close friend of Jack Dempsey, one of the greatest fighters of all time. McMahon lost his sight in World War One and in recent years has made a tour of race tracks and baseball parks singing for a living.

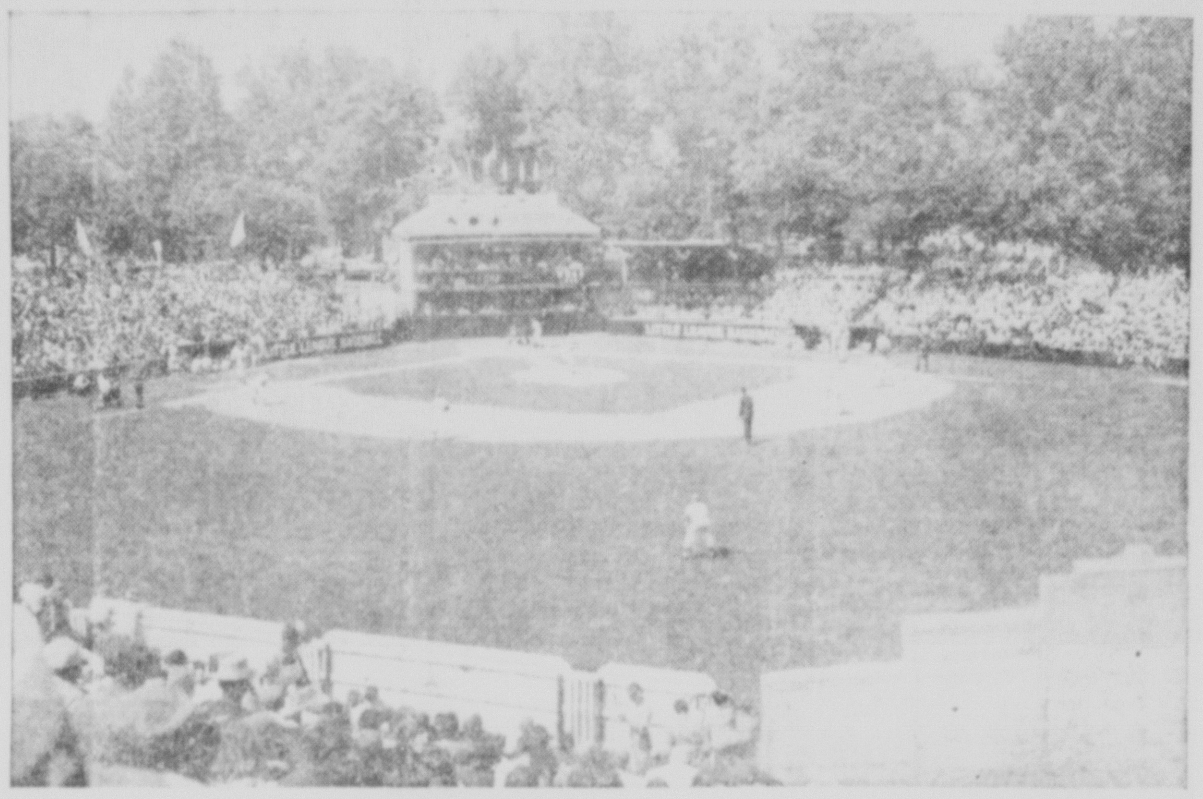
Reading drivers have really taken over at Stroudsburg Speedway in recent weeks. "Blackie" Reider, Reading, won the main event on Saturday and Russ Delp, of the same town, was the number one man in the feature attraction the week before. Reading drivers have also been dominating the qualifying heats and consolation grinds of late. Reider beat one of the top fields in one of the best races of the current season at the local half-mile oval. If "Smokey" Dengler and Jack Ruddy don't appear at the local track more often, they will be forced to take back seats to their fellow Reading drivers.

Dale Johnson, East Stroudsburg, continues to get a cold shoulder from Lady Luck, as fas as the local driver is concerned at Stroudsburg Speedway. Dale has been knocked out of action week after week, by one misfortune or another, and Saturday night's card was no exception. The former Pocono High student was running in fourth place in the main event when he went into a spin on the fourth turn of the eighth lap and was hit broadside by Lou Hahn, Phillipsburg, N. J. Both cars were forced from the race and Dale suffered a knee injury, which wasn't thought to be serious. Johnson's car, owned by Bernie Clemens, was damaged so extensively that it wasn't known whether the car would be ready to operate next Saturday.

At least six cars from the Wilkes-Barre-Scranton area ran at Stroudsburg Speedway for the first time on Saturday. The field consisted of 50 cars in the most recent card. One of the cars in Saturday's field was made and is supported by a Marine Corps Reserve Unit from Wyoming, Pa. The car is used for class room work during the week and put back together in time to race on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The manner in which the car is painted brings plenty of publicity to the Marines.

One new section of seats has been added to the grandstands at the half-mile dirt track located next to the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg Airport and more are to be constructed in the very near future. The materials are already on hand. Johnny Cathers, announcer at Stroudsburg Speedway, just returned from the south where he visited several racing plants, most of which were located in Georgia.

Harold "Flying Milkman" Brokoff,, Pottsville, may be known as "King of the Dirt" on most of the dirt stock car tracks, but at Stroudsburg Speedway the likeable dairy owner is just an also-ran. Brokoff has yet to win at the local oval. Harold lost two thrilling battles to Ken Wismer, Easton, earlier in the campaign and finished fifth on Saturday. Brokoff's new car, number 38, doesn't appear to be nearly as fast as his famous "X". Wismer missed his first race of the season at Stroudsburg Speedway on Saturday.



LITTLE LEAGUE WORLD SERIES—Probably 50,000 persons will see the eight-game Pennsylvania State Little Tournament beginning Wednesday, August 12 at Williamsport, and running through Saturday, August 15. Each of the eight districts within the state will send its champion to the home of the original Little League where they will vie for the Keystone State championship. The ultimate winner will be regarded as the top team among 412 Little Leagues in Pennsylvania and will represent Pennsylvania in the National Tournament, also at Williamsport, Tuesday, August 25 to Friday, August 28. The Little League movement was born at Williamsport in 1938 and now has 2,812 leagues in 46 states.

Caputo, Cummings Pace Attack As Pocono Lake Crushes West End A.C. Despite Rain, 16-3

Pocono Pines — Pocono Lake defeated West End A. C. in the only Pocono Mountains League baseball game played yesterday, 16-3, here on the winning contingent's home field. Rain and wet grounds hampered play throughout the first game of a scheduled doubleheader.

The same two teams battled to a 9-9 deadlock in the second contest, which was halted by the 6 p. m. curfew (standard time). The second encounter will be completely replayed at a time and date to be announced later.

Pocono Lake rode to victory on the smoking bats of Gene Caputo and Mike Cummings in the opening contest, as the hard hitting twosome blasted out 10 hits in 11 trips to the plate.

Big Guns

Caputo lashed three home runs and a single in five trips to the plate, while Cummings enjoyed a perfect six-for-six show in the offensive column. Cummings' output included a triple and five singles.

Pocono Lake missed scoring in only two of the eight innings in which is battled during the first contest, with four runs in the fifth and the same number in the eighth being the big stanzas in a winning cause.

West End averted a shutout in the lid-lifter by reaching Roy Franks for two runs in the third and one in the fifth round.

Pocono Lake banged out 10 hits in the nightcap, while West End was credited with nine.

Al Conklin, manager and losing pitcher for West End in the first contest, led the losing offensive in the first game by accounting for three of his club's nine hits.

Williamsburg Nine Advances

Sunbury, (AP) — Williamsburg, Blair County, yesterday won its way into the final week of competition in the National Baseball Congress State Tourney here by splitting a doubleheader.

It lost the first, 2-1, to Nescopeck, Luzerne County, and took the second, 4-3, from Blaine of the Juniata League.

Six Hits

In the first game the Blair County champions were topped by Nescopeck in a pitching duel between Williamsburg's Lyon Hoffner and Frank Slusser, 17-year-old coal region twirler.

Hoffner, who went all the way for Williamsburg, gave up six hits. Both runs scored on him were in the third inning.

Indians Sweep Doubleheader From A's

Philadelphia, (AP) The Cleveland Indians, backing the strong arm hurling of Early Wynn and Bob Lemon with hits in bunches, took both ends of the doubleheader from the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday, 10-1 and 7-1 to sweep the four-game weekend series.

The pattern of both games yesterday was the same. The Indians scored in the first inning off starters Bobby Shantz and Alex Kellner and then when the A's showed signs of coming to life, exploded for rallies to ice the games.

Lemon became the first pitcher to win 15 games in the American League this season on the strength of his six-hitter. The only A's score was Gus Zernial's 25th homer.

Wynn was in a little more hot water throughout the second game but came up with the right pitch in the right place to clamp off any A's threats.

Eighth Loss

Shantz, losing his eighth in 13 decisions was forced to leave after four innings because his aching left arm stiffened in the rain-dampened breeze. He yielded the first two Tribe runs. One came in the first on singles by Al Smith and Al Rosen and an error by Eddie Robinson. The other was in the third on a triple by Billy Glynn and a long fly by Doby.

The Indians scored three more in the fifth on a walk, Glynn's double, Doby's single and a wild pitch. Glynn's two-bagger and Rosen's single in the seventh added another and George Strickland's seventh-inning triple and a fly by Owen Friend added one more.

"Bobo" Newsom was tagged for three by the Tribe in the ninth on a walk, doubles by Doby and Wally Westlake and a scratch hit by Strickland.

The Indians sewed up the second in the seventh with a four-run outburst. Smith cracked his second home run of the season and after Kellner hit Doby with a pitch, Rosen was safe on Loren Babe's error. Joe DeMaestri threw wild on a bounder by Westlake with Doby and Rosen scoring and Jim Hegan's triple scored Westlake.

Lemon managed to stop Dave Philley's personal hitting streak at 19 games in the opener.

The A's lone run in the second came on Zernial's double and Babe's infield single.

Wightman Cup Matches Delayed

Rye, N. Y., (AP) Great Britain's Wightman Cup team got a 24-hour reprieve when rain yesterday washed out the second part of the Women's International Tennis competition.

Big Lead

America's female wrecking crew, Shirley Fry, Maureen Conolly and Doris Hart are leading 3-0 and have virtually been conceded the victory.

Matches resume today.

American Nips National

Latrobe (AP) — The American League team defeated the National 2-1 in the Western Pennsylvania Junior American Legion All-Star baseball game yesterday before 2,000 fans. The winners meet the Eastern All-Stars for the state final at Ephrata on August 28.

Giants Drop Pair To Reds

Cincinnati (AP) — Cincinnati's two most effective pitchers — southpaws Harry Perkowski and Fred Baczewski — stifled the New York Giants 5-0 and 3-1 yesterday as the Redlegs swept a doubleheader to take three of their four games from the Giants.

First Score

The Redlegs scored a run in the first inning on Jim Greengrass' fly to deep centerfield with the bases loaded and added the two decisive markers in the fourth.

In the first game, the Redlegs scratched loser Jim Hearn for a fourth-inning run on two singles and a fly ball and kissed him goodbye in the fifth with four runs.

With one down, Bobby Adams beat out a slow roller toward third and continued to second when Hearn threw wildly past first. Gus Bell's two-base hit scored Adams. Ted Kluszewski walked and was forced at second by Greengrass, but Marshall followed by slamming his 12th homer of the year into the rightfield bleachers.

Cardinals Swamp Dodgers Behind Haddix

St. Louis (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, defeated six straight times by Brooklyn, drubbed the league-leading Dodgers yesterday, 10-1, as two ailing Redbirds—"Red" Schoendienst and Steve Bilko—swung powerful bats to back the sharp six-hit pitching of Harvey Haddix.

Lefty Haddix, gaining his 13th victory against only four defeats, issued two walks. The only run he yielded brought on a rhubarb that led to the banishment of catcher Sal Yvars.

Johnny Podres, rookie Brooklyn southpaw, was knocked out for the first time in his last four starts and suffered his first defeat in eight decisions since April 23 as St. Louis pounded out 12 hits, which included three doubles and three home runs.

Schoendienst, forced to leave Saturday night's game, still complained of a headache over the left eye that was severely gashed July 21 at New York, but pounded in three runs with a single, double and his 11the homer that brought his National League-leading average up to .341.

Grand Slam

Bilko, felled Saturday night by a hard bad-hopping grounder that struck hom in the left ear and sent him to a hospital for X-rays, delivered a single and a grand-slam homer, his 14th home run of the year.

Ray Jablonski also homered for the Cardinals, belting his 16th of the season with a teammate aboard in the first inning.

Schoendienst's smash into the bleachers came in the third inning and Podres was routed in the fifth as the Cardinals scored twice more on Yvars' single, a walk and safeties by Solly Hemus and Schoendienst.

The Dodger's only run was scored in the sixth. A single by "Junior" Gilliam, "Pee Wee" Reese's force out and a safety by Dick Williams, who replaced limping Jackie Robinson two innings earlier, put men on first and third with one out. Reese then broke for the plate on Roy Campanella's high hopper to Haddix and was declared safe by Umpire Bill Jackowski. Yvars, whirling angrily to protest, jostled the umpire and immediately was ejected from the game.

The Cardinals' last five runs came in the seventh off Jim Hughes, the third of four Brooklyn pitchers. With one out, doubles by Hemus and Schoendienst produced one run. Stan Musial drew an intentional pass and, after Jablonski hit into a force play, Enos Slaughter walked to fill the bases. Bilko then sent a tremendous smash against the lower edge of the scoreboard at the back of the left-field bleachers.

Erv Palica, recently returned from service, pitched a scoreless eighth for the Dodgers.

Rothrock, Gibson Win Tennis Titles

Lancaster, (AP) Gil Rothrock and Althea Gibson won the men's and women's titles in the annual Red Rose Tennis Tournament at the Lancaster Tennis Club Saturday. Rothrock turned back Jack Calkins of Bradford, Pa., 6-4, 6-2, 6-3 to successfully defend his title.

Easy

Miss Gibson of New York, the nation's ninth ranked woman player, easily whipped Connie Bowan of Hollywood, Calif., 6-0, 6-0.

Glenside Lands Crown

Allentown, (AP) — The Pennsylvania State Knee-Hi baseball champion is Glenside (Pa.) AA. Glenside defeated Stelmire AA of Philadelphia 4-3 Saturday to take the title.

Tigers Claw Red Sox In Both Ends Of Bargain Attraction

Boston (AP) — Detroit's improving Tigers swept their doubleheader with Boston's skidding Red Sox yesterday as they rallied to cop the nightcap 9-6 after righthander Ned Garver bested Willard Nixon 2-1 in the opener. Detroit completed a sweep of the 4-game series and increased Boston's losing streak to eight games.

Reliefer Franklin Sullivan —a 21-pound six foot and seven and one-half inch giant just up from Albany of the Eastern League—was the victim of the Tigers' five-run explosion in the eighth inning of the second game. Ray Boone's 16th homer capped that outburst.

Boston nicked starter Dick Marlowe for two runs to take a 5-4 lead in the sixth, but Detroit rolled into high gear in the eighth. Bob Nieman, Matt Batts and pinch-hitter Johnny Pesky got successive singles. Harvey Kuenn slammed a two-run double and Boone's homer brought him home.

Both starters Marlowe and Sid Hudson failed to last the route.

In the first game pitching duel Garver evened his record at 8-8 as he held the Red Sox to six hits, fanned four and didn't walk a man.

Detroit clinched the victory in the seventh inning when Nixon yielded the game's lone walk to catcher Johnny Bucha who stole second and scored on a single by Kuenn. The loss left Nixon's mark 4-4.

Rain, Wet Grounds Put Damper On Area Baseball Schedule

Rain and wet grounds raised havoc with the area baseball schedule yesterday as all but one contest was washed off the books until a later date.

Pocono Lake won over West End A. C. in the first half of a Pocono Mountains League doubleheader, 16-3, and the two clubs battled to a 9-9 deadlock in the nightcap. The second game was halted after seven innings because of the 6 p. m. (standard time) curfew.

The battle between these two teams made up all of the baseball action in the area yesterday.

Doubleheaders between Tannersville and Analomink, Barrett and Saylorsburg and Lake Harmony and Kunkletown were postponed, as was a single struggle between Reeders at Bushkill.

Clinton Getz, president of the Pocono Mountains League, has called on all team managers to get together and name dates for making up games postponed yesterday. Getz said the makeup games may be played as twilights contests, or on Saturday or Sunday.

Hopeful

Getz pointed out that he would like to have the games played by the end of the present month. Managers have been asked to inform John Wernett, league secretary, when a field and dates for the makeup games have been agreed upon.

Three important Blue Mountain League diamond battles also went down the drain. Tatamy was scheduled to play Pocono A. C. at East Stroudsbufg Playground; Johnsonville was supposed to invade Martins Creek and Portland was listed as a foe for Roseto at Bangor's Memorial Park.

Dates for making up these games will probably be agreed upon at a league meeting tonight.

A full card was also postponed in the Pocono Mountains Association yesterday and no announcements were made concerning new dates for the contests.

Tobyhanna was supposed to play at Hamlin, while Mount Cobb was listed for an invasion of Newfoundland. Daleville was washed out at Maple Lake and Moscow received the same dose of medicine at Gouldsboro.

Replay dates will probably be announced in the very near future.

Barrett Runs Wild Over Worthington

Canadensis—Barrett took a firmer hold on fourth place in the Little Bigger League of the Stroudsburgs on Saturday with a convincing 16-6 victory over Worthington Mower, here on the Barrett High school field.

The host aggregation scored four times in the first inning and had things its own way the remainder of the distance. Three tallies in the third, four in the fourth and a big five-run explosion in the sixth gave the Barrett contingent a winning margin of 10 runs.

Worthington Mower was unable to break into the scoring column until the third, when it scored one run.

The Stroudsburg club attempted to fight back into the thick of the battle with three tallies in the fifth and two in the sixth, but the visiting nine could never make the grade.

Five errors proved fatal to the Worthington Mower contingent, as Harrison and Bill Henry combined to hold the losing contingent to six safeties.

Mrs. Ruth Morgan of Tacoma Park, Md., was first in the women's division with a score of 3172 and 192 centers.

Johnson In Accident On Eighth Lap

"Blackie" Reider, Reading's spectacular stock car pilot, became a two-time winner at Stroudsburg Speedway this season by pacing a field of 22 starters to the finish line in the 25-lap feature event on Saturday night. A crowd of over 2,000 watched the regular weekly racing program.

Reider moved into the lead shortly after a restart on the ninth lap and held the front spot the remainder of the distance, despite strong pressure from Joe Cryan, Oxford, N. J., and "Buddy" Burgstresser, Phillipsburg, N. J., who finished second and third respectively.

Fred Fehr, Easton, and Harold "Flying Milkman" Brokoff, Pottsville, were fourth and fifth respectively in the main event.

Reider earned his position in the feature event by finishing first in the initial qualifying heat, with Walt Whitman, a fellow Reading driver coming home second. Jack Snyder, Wilkes-Barre; Otto Harwi, Easton, and Joe Mushlitz, Bethlehem, completed the first five in the opening heat.

Second Heat

The second qualifying heat was won by Russ Delp, also of Reading and winner of last week's feature, with "Buddy" Burgstresser, second; Harry Charles, Easton, third; Cryan, fourth and Lou Hahn, Phillipsburg, N. J., fifth.

Freddie Fehr crossed the finish line first in the third qualifying heat, followed by Dave Rapp, of Easton; Jack Burgstresser, Easton; Bob Blatt, Fleetwood, Pa.; Charley Whitehead, Flemington, N. J., and Dale Johnson, East Stroudsburg, winding up the top six in that order.

Brokoff won the consolation grind, a 12-lap event, followed by Chet Fehr, Easton; Jim Henninger, Milford, N. J., and Harold Held, Bethlehem, in that order.

Johnson, running fourth in the main event, was knocked from the race when involved in an accident on the eighth lap. His car was extensively damaged.

A total of 50 stock cars took part in the five-event program.

Braves Settle For Even Break With Phillies

Milwaukee, (AP) — Joe Adcock blasted a 3-2 pitch by reliefer Karl Drews into the leftfield bleachers with two on in the eighth inning yesterday as the Milwaukee Braves won the second game of a doubleheader from Philadelphia, 6-1, after dropping the opener, 4-1, to Curt Simmons' five-hitter. The split, coupled with Brooklyn's loss at St. Louis, enabled the Braves to trim their deficit to seven and one-half games behind the Dodgers, who come in today for a four-game series.

Starter Steve Ridzik had rationed the Braves to three hits, but was trailing by 2-1 when removed for a pinch-hitter in the seventh.

Only Run

Philadelphia's only run scored in the first on Eddie Waitkus' leadoff single an infield out and Johnny Wyrostek's line drive to center.

Del Ennis' three-run homer in the fourth paved the way for the Phils' triumph in the opener and hung the loss on starter Don Liddle as Simmons set the Braves down with only four hits.

Liddle, first of three Milwaukee pitchers, gave up all Phils' hits. He retired the first nine batters in order. Then Ted Kazanski opened the fourth with a single, Richie Ashburn forced him at second, but Earl Torgeson lashed a single and Ennis' cleared the sacks with his poke just inside the left-field foul mark.

Serafin To Defend Philadelphia District PGA Championship At Shawnee This Month

Shawnee-on-Delaware — The Philadelphia District Professional Golf Association championship tournament will be held for the fifth straight year at Shawnee Inn and Country Club here with the qualifying round scheduled match play August 18, 19 and 20, with the finals Sunday, August 23.

The annual Shawnee Pro-Member championship will be played Sunday, August 16, with some of the east's finest amateurs pairing with the pros for the annual event.

Henry Poe, Reading Country Club and president of the Philadelphia District PGA, and Harry Obitz, head professional at Shawnee are looking for an all-time record entry for the PGA event which last year had a field of 85 starters.

John Serafin, 23-year-old pro from Elkview Country Club, Carbondale, Pa., last year's winner, will be back to defend his title. Pat Tiso, of Meadowlands Country Club, Blue Bell, Pa., who, as a newcomer to the district last year, won the medalist honors with a five-under-par 67, also will be in this year's field.

Serafin won the title by defeating Matt Kowal, former Philmont Country Club pro in a 38-holes final.

The field will be shooting over a revised and lengthened championship course this year. The yardage has been increased from 6,686 yards to 6,767 yards, while changes have been made on the second and 14th fairways and the 17th tee.

Steelers Open Tough Training Grind Today

Pittsburgh, (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League, still missing contracts from four veteran players, left yesterday for Olean, N. Y., where pre-season training begins today.

One Contract

Joe Bach, beginning his second year as coach of the Steelers, said he received fullback Fran Rogel's signed contract jut before the squad left for two-a-day workouts at St. Bonaventure University.

Still unsigned are halfbacks Lynn Chandnois and Ray Mathews, tackle Ernie Stautner and guard Pete Ladygo.

Two Tilts On Agenda

Two games are on the agenda of the Pocono Mountains Little League today, both beginning at the new starting time of 6 p.m. Barrett Lions and Pocono Lions will play at Pocono Pines, while Barrett Rotary and Mount Pocono battle at Mountainhome's Siglin field.

Coatesville Wins Church Softball Title

Coatesville, (AP)—First Presbyterian Church of Coatesville won the annual state Church Softball Tourney trouncing Xavier Trinity Lutheran of Coatesville in the final, 14-1.

It was the defending champions second triumph over Trinity in the double-elimination tourney. Coatesville won an earlier game in a tight, 2-0, battle.

Extra Inning

Trinity gained the final by defeating Juniata Trinity Lutheran Church in an overtime battle, 7-6. The scheduled seven-inning affair went to nine innings before Xavier Trinity pushed across the winning run.

Altoona Grace Methodist Church was eliminated in the morning round by Juniata, 6-3.

Two Softball Games On Agenda

A pair of Monroe County Softball League games will be played today, both beginning at 6:30 p.m. Shaffer's Inn and the Eagles meet at Stroudsburg Playground, while Al Besecker's Diner and Tucker's Chevrolet clash at East Stroudsburg Playground.

Meeting

Following the game managers of IAM and the Eagles will meet with Jack Mullins, circuit president at the latter's home, 514 Brown St., Stroudsburg.

Bowlers To Meet

A meeting of the Tuesday Night Bowling League will be held tomorrow at the George N. Kemp American Legion Post at 8 p.m. Plans will be discussed for the coming campaign.

Chadwick Fails In Latest Battle With English Channe!

Wissart, France, (AP) — Egyptian swimmers established two new English Channel records yesterday but Florence Chadwick, 33-year old San Diego, Calif., typist, who twice has conquered the testing 25 miles, failed in her third attempt.

Miss Chadwick, who had swum across the tricky stretch of water in each direction, started out to swim it non-stop both ways.

Abd Litif Abou Heif, 23, figured in both records for swimming from England to the French coast. He was a member of the six-man Egyptian team which hung up a new relay record of 10 hours and 51 minutes and then lowered the individual mark to 13 hours 45 minutes.

Early Leg

Abou Heif swam one of the early legs of about four miles as a member of the team and shortly afterwards struck out alone from the English shore. A British timer clocked his finish and said he had easily broken the record of 15 hours, 35 minutes made by Tom Blower of England in 1949.

Miss Chadwick was pulled out of the water, wan and exhausted, about nine miles off the French coast, after swimming nine hours and 55 minutes. For much of the time, she had been sick, vomiting time and again as waves of sea sickness swept through her.

Osman Ghandour, 27-year old Lebanese, also failed to complete the long swim. He was pulled out of the water in a semi-conscious condition some four miles from his goal.

One Game Slated

Methodists and East Stroudsburg National Bank battle in an East Stroudsburg Little League baseball game today at the circuit's official field. Action is carded for 6:30 p.m.

Eagles Lose Draft Choice

Transfer

Conway was a member of the 1950 U. S. Military Academy team. He left West Point in 1951 to finish his college career at William Jewell College, Liberty, Mo.

British Champ To Mix With Matthews

New York (AP) — Don Cockell, British Empire heavyweight champion, makes his American debut Friday at Seattle, Wash., against Harry "Kid" Matthews in one of the few important bouts of a skimpy boxing program.

Cockell won the British title by whipping Johnny Williams, May 12, after he had lost the light heavy championship when he was stopped by Randy Turpin last year. Within the last year he stopped the veteran Tommy Farr.

Matthews, trying to fight his way back after his knockout loss to "Rocky" Marciano last summer, now is ranked number nine among the heavyweight contenders. Jack Hurley's "tiger" was to have fought Williams in London last year but cancelled because of a back injury. He beat Freddie Beshore, June 16.

New York

Hein Ten Hoff, the German who is third ranked among European heavyweights, gets his first New York chance Tuesday night at Ridgewood Grove against one Irish Bill Wilson of Charlotte, N.C. Ten Hoff won at Salt Lake City and Las Vegas earlier this year.

Today's TV show (Dumont) out of Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway is a good lightweight pairing of Wallace "Bud" Smith of Cincinnati and Carl Coates of Baltimore.

On Wednesday the television fight (CBS) comes from San Francisco's Cow Palace where Art Aragon of Los Angeles and Henry Davis of Honolulu box a welter 10. There is no Friday show on TV until September 4.

Chicago is the site of the Saturday fight series (ABC) this week with Allan Moody of Chicago and Irving Steen of San Diego, Calif. in a welterweight battle. Moody is handled by Sam Pian, the Chicago manager who used to boss champs like Barney Ross and Tony Zale.

Only Girl In Field Triumphs

Reading, (AP)—The only girl in the field of 21 won the Reading Optimist Club "boy day" auto box derby. Fourteen-year-old Barbara Ann McGowan of Laureldale in suburban Reading, out distanced 20 boys in her red racer.

Beats Champ

She won the contest for out-of-town drivers and then defeated the city champion.

Little League Contest

Penn-Stroud Hotel and Security Trust are listed as opponents in the Stroudsburg Little League game scheduled for today on the circuit's official field. The game begins at 6:15 p.m.

Final Round Of All-American Golf Postponed Until Today

Chicago, (AP) — Heavy rains yesterday washed out the final round of the $30,000 All-American Golf Tournaments at Tam O'Shanter and the windup was rescheduled today.

Eighty players in a total field of 150 men and women had finished their fourth round before Harvey Raynor, PGA tournament supervisor, surveyed conditions on the water-logged course and called for a postponement.

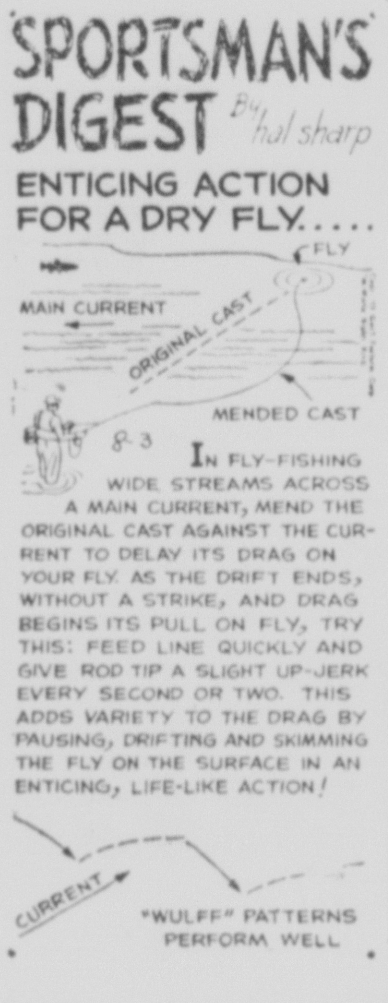
All scores posted yesterday were cancelled and the field will start its finale anew today.

Scores

Jack Burke, grouped with four other players at 210 at the 54 hole mark, three strokes off the lead held by Pete Cooper, was two under par for the first eight holes yesterday while Cooper was even par through the first seven.

Lloyd Mangrum, second to Cooper after 54 with 208, was three over par through the first eight. Dave Douglas, among the third round leaders with 209, had clipped two strokes off regulation for the first seven holes.

Among the women who had completed their fourth round was "Babe" Zaharias who posted a 38-42—80 for a 325 total, 21 over par. Now the somewhat weary "Babe", making her first tournament appearance since her cancer operation April 17, will be forced to go an extra round.



Patty Wins Tourney

Hamburg, (AP)—America's Budge Patty yesterday won the International German Tennis championship, beating Italian Fausto Gardini 6-3, 6-2, 6-3.

Senators Blank White Sox On Six Safeties

Washington (AP) — Walter Masterson bumped the Chicago White Sox five games back of the rained out New York Yankees yesterday when he pitched Washington to a 1-0 victory. Masterson allowed six hits in posting his seventh victory and fourth shutout.

Jim Busby, former White Sox outfielder, smashed across the only run with two out in the fourth inning. With one out Jackie Jensen lined a double to left off loser Harry Dorish. Jensen moved to third when Pete Runnels grounded out and came in on Busby's sharp single to left.

The White Sox filled the bases against Masterson in the first inning. Nelson Fox opened the game with a single and after Ferris Fain fanned, Minnie Minoso also singled. Fox stopped at second.

Passed Ball

The runners advanced on a passed ball, but Bob Elliott went down swinging. Bob Boyd, filling in at right field for Sam Mele, walked but shortstop Jerry Snyder threw out Jim Rivera. Mele injured his left leg in a slide Saturday night and is expected to be out of action two or three days.

Fox singled to start the sixth inning, moved to second when Fain grounded out and went to third after Minoso flied deep to Jensen, but Snyder threw out Elliott.

A sparking throw by Jensen pulled Masterson out of trouble in the eighth after Tom Wright batted for Chico Carrasquel and singled to left. Ed Stewart, batting for Dorish, flied out but Fain singled to right. When Wright attempted to take third he was nailed on Jensen's fine throw to Ed Yost.

Masterson's shutout was the second by the same score over the White Sox and marked the third straight shutout between the clubs, with the Senators taking two.

Bill Summers, plate umpire, was forced to leave the game in the eighth inning when struck on the left leg by a foul tip off Masterson's bat. John Stevens replaced him behind the plate.

A's Place Scheib On Disabled List

Philadelphia, (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics yesterday placed veteran Carl Scheib on the disabled list and restored rookie Ed Monahan to active status.

Leaves Game

Scheib (3-6) who had appeared in 27 games, seven as a starter, left last Tuesday's contest with St. Louis because of a sore shoulder. Under baseball rules he must remain inactive at least 30 days.

Little Bigger Battle

Worthington Mower and Line Material clash in a Little Bigger League of the Stroudsburgs baseball game at Gordon Giffels field today. The contest gets underway at 6:15 p.m. Barrett and Monroe Silk clash on the same field tomorrow.

Cubs Shade Pirates In 11th

Chicago, (AP) Ransom Jackson's 11th inning home run off Murry Dickson gave the Chicago Cubs a 7-6 victory yesterday over the Pittsburgh Pirates in a rain-delayed game that stretched over four hours and 31 minutes.

The contest was the first game of a scheduled doubleheader. The second game was called off because of approaching darkness and was rescheduled for September 9.

The Cubs had a 6-5 edge after eight innings, mainly because of a two-run triple and a homer, also good for two runs, by Ralph Kiner. Kiner also got two singles.

Deadlock

However, the Pirates' Frank Thomas sent the game into overtime by singling home Cal Abrams from third in the top of the ninth. Abrams, who hit his 12th homer of the season in the first inning, had singled, stole second and advanced to third on a wild pitch.

The pitching victory went to Turk Lown, who relieved Cub starter Warren Hacker in the seventh inning when the Pirates scored three runs for a brief 5-4 lead.

Kiner's 25th homer of the year with Tommy Brown, who walked, on base put the Cubs on top again in the bottom of the seventh.

Dickson, fourth Pirate hurler, suffered his 14th loss against eight victories. For Lown, the winner, it was the fifth victory in 10 decisions.

A crowd of 14,110 saw the game, delayed an hour and 31 minutes by rain during the seventh inning.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your keynumber. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Your Horoscope Today

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—One of your best days in this one whole generous month. Laborious tasks, building, railroading, engineering and like high ranking.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Many things we LIKE to do, many we WANT to do, but it is the things which SHOULD be done, that MUST be done. Note that in your plans right now.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Many times it is easy to explain to others what is proper, appropriate. But how often one errs in practicing what he or she preaches! So check up on yourself!

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Don't say it! Think first: Would it be truthful or accurate? A healthy sort day if your humour is up.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Help where you can, don't hinder real progress, and give an encouraging word. These are God's great "little" gifts, invaluable to daily life.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Do what you must in worthy manner, with head and hopes high. Greater compensation later for today's real work. Enjoy nature's bounty.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Review before your start; is it time for an inventory of self, of habits, methods? Even the smallest improvements ARE worth while.

October 23 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Extremes are taboo right now. Do what you can to make this a better day for all and the "makings" are here with which to work.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Among the things you may have to cope with are spitefulness and a disregard for others' rights. You can do so by being alert and amiable.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—You may face a situation soon where you must decide to assist one in a shady transaction. Do so calmly and with principle paramount.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Make inquiries, call upon others' know-how, explore a bit. And heed the wise hints along the way.

Feburary 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—There are many good influences about, but some highly questionable ones, too. Don't put off duties, work that may mean a too crowded day tomorrow, or later.

YOU BORN TODAY: have many assets, talents, characteristics that make for popularity, and should be happy and spend a useful, interesting life, BUT: So very much depends upon your inner self. Believe in the good there is in man, and pray as you work. Birthdate: Rupert Brooke, hero poet; many military leaders.

THE GREEN THUMB

Mosaic Disease Of Glads, Controls Listed; Onion Care, Tomato Leaf Wilt

Mosaic of Gladiolus: There are two types of mosaic diseases of glads: Mild mosaic. Mild mosaic causes a light striping or penciling of color on the floral petals. This is so general in most varieties of glads that growers commonly regard it as a natural trait. The effect of mildw mosaic on the flowers is not especially objectionable, and it is doubtful that it detracts from the beauty of the variety. So, if your glads show a mottling or striping with alternating lighter and darker shades of green, it's probably mild mosaic, and you won't have to worry too much it harming your glads.

The time to worry is when your glads have white-break mosaic, perhaps the worst disease of glads. When present, the leaf symptoms consist of a definite gray or yellowish-green streaking, spotting, or specking (which can be easily confused with thrips injury). The mottling is unlike that caused by mild mosaic. It is much more definite and conspicuous, especially on blooms. Flowers become crinkled, and hood-shaped, stunted, spotted and streaked, with a design of gray or yellowish-green spots dispersed without any pattern. The broken color is always lighter than the normal color.

Control: Inspection at flowering time is the surest method known for detecting diseased plants. Rogue (pull out and destroy) diseased plants will reduce white-break mosaic to low levels. Keep plants dusted with DDT or Nicotine sulfate to keep aphids and other insects from spreading the virus.

FREE: Because so many of our friends have been having trouble with their glads, The Green Thumb has prepared a brand new bulletin, "Doctor your own Glads." It tells how to detect various glad diseases and check them so you can have fine blooms year after year. Please be sure to enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope. NO POSTAL CARDS, PLEASE, friends.

Onion plants: When the tops of your onion bulbs begin to ripen and yellow off, you can take a light roller and run it over the row of plants. This breaks the stems and hastens the ripening of bulbs, helps them grow larger. After all the tops die off, in fall, dig the bulbs up and cure them in the sun for a day or so before storing in cellar for Winter use.

GREEN THUMB CLINIC: W. A. of Stroudsburg: "The leaves of my tomatoes have wilted. Why?

Leaves curl in dry weather. When tomatoes are planted near land badly infested with wireworms, you often find pest boring up through the stems, causing plant to wilt. If wire-worm is detected, stab it with wire, and plant may live to produce.

Russians Set Stage For Korea Reuniting Only With United States Out Of Country

By William L. Ryan
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Russians are busily preparing another "tupik" for us. Tupik is a handy Russian word meaning a blind alley, a dead end street, a cul-de-sac and so forth. This tupik is in Korea. It concerns the reunification of the country.

The July 28 edition of the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia, in a long editorial discussion of the Korean truce, includes this paragraph:

"The ending of the war raises before the Korean people the task of re-establishing the national unity of the Korean state. The Korean people, like all freedom-loving people, never tolerated and never will tolerate the artificial division of their motherland. Just as at the time of their liberation from the imperialistic Japan, they ardently aim at the restoration of their national unity. This question is an internal affair of the Korean people themselves, in which they themselves must decide the fate of their country. The people of the world are vitally interested in that the future of Korea be decided, in the first place, in the interests of the Korean people themselves, since this naturally is the correct way toward the establishment of peace in the Far East."

This is a hearold for the same old international merry-go-round first switched on in the satellite countries and then in Germany and other areas in which Soviet imperialists had a purposeful finger in the pie.

If there is to be unification of Korea, the United States and the United Nations are likely to call for countrywide elections under strict supervision of a U. N. commission. But the Communists still occupy North Korea. And the Soviet Union is serving notice in advance that the unification of Korea is strictly an internal question.

The result will be that the Soviet Union will agreed to unification of the Korean nation only on Moscow's terms, and this will not include risking the Communist foothold in the North on the results of a free and unfettered election.

"Successful conclusion of discussions on establishing a truce in Korea was the first stage in the resolution of the Korean question as a whole," Izvestia remarks. " . . . Natutally the next stage of resolving the Korean question as a whole will depend largely on the readiness of the other side of the U. N. to collaborate sincerely in carrying out the agreement of the truce. The people of the world, vitaly interested in easing international tensions, and considering the ending of the war in Korea as one of the important steps in this direction, will be vigilant and will not permit aggressive circles of the United States and their agents in South Korea to subvert the truce."

This fixes in advance the propaganda line that if the political conference on Korea gets nowhere, it will be because the United States refused to collaborate and because United States agents were busy trying to upset the truce and set the stage for a new outbreak of Far Eastern war.

With the cards thus stacked, the indications are Korea will remain divided as long as the United States retains its interest in the political future of the country. It will be unified only if the United States pulls out completely and the Communists do the unifying.

This is the "brotherly help" Premier Malenkov promised the Koreans.
